Delay Meeting On Slayer's Case

County Awaits Decision

Conn's Condition Still Critical

Richland county will have to wait a little longer before it learns whether Robert Murl Daniels can be brought here for trial in the slaying of John E. Niebel, his wife, and daughter a week ago today.

Van Wert county officials said they were delaying a meeting scheduled for today, to determine whether Richland, Seneca, or Franklin county will get Daniels. He is wanted in all three on murder charges.

The meeting in Van Wert is not expected to be held until late this week or early next week.

Sheriff F. Roy Shaffer of Van Wert county said he would not call a conference until Police Sgt. Leonard Conn of Van Wert is definitely on the road to recovery.

Conn was shot in the chest by John C. West, Daniels' pal, who died of wounds received in a gun battle near Van Wert last Friday. Daniels is being held in the Celina, O., jail for the sheriff of Van Wert county.

STILL CRITICAL

Sheriff Shaffer said that Conn passed the crisis Sunday noon, but that his condition is still critical. His recovery is expected to be slow.

Meanwhile, Richland county commissioners said they could not determine to wrom the $5,000 reward they posted should be paid until there is a conviction.

Board Chairman John W. Selby said the reward was posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of the three members of the Niebel family. He said it was his personal opinion that the reward could be paid only if the slayer was convicted in Richland county for the Niebel murders.

Richland county seeks custody of Daniels for trial in the Niebel slayings; Franklin county wants to try him for the murder of Earl C. Ambrose on July 9.

WANTED AT TIFFIN

Seneca county — Tiffin—wants Daniels for the murders of James Smith, 25-year-old farmer who was shot to death in his car as his helpless wife looked on, and the killing of Orville Taylor, Niles, Mich., driver of an auto transport truck in which the killers fled.

Daniels was indicted by the Franklin county grand jury yesterday for a series of lesser crimes, although he may never be brought to trial on the indictments.

He is charged with shooting to wound a patron of the Ambrose cafe, who was wounded in the holdup, and five armed robberies and a car theft.

Daniels' Escape Rumor Scares City

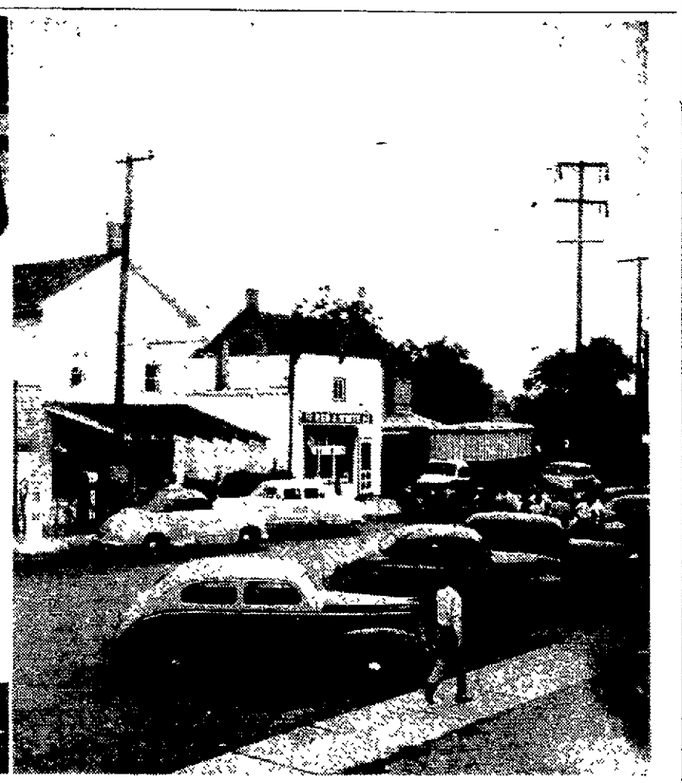

A rumor that Robert Murl Daniels had escaped the Celina jail created a scare in the Mansfield area late yesterday and brought dozens of calls to The News-Journal.

Most of the calls came from frightened women, some of whom said they were afraid to stay at home alone if Daniels was loose.

A number of the callers said the report apparently originated with a radio broadcast which was misinterpreted. The rumor spread rapidly, and calls came from several sections of the county, including Bellville and Shelby.

THE MONEY WAS THERE—Mrs. Edith McNutt gives Sheriff Ralph Schreck, of Crawford county, details of the robbery yesterday at the Tiro Farmers and Citizens National bank. Mrs. McNutt was forced at gunpoint to hand over $2,350 from the vault to which she is pointing, but the bandits overlooked $3,000 in an unlocked cashier's till.

Truck-Car Crash Kills Shelby Man

Wreck Sends Two Others to Hospital

Raymond E. Zeiters, 53, of 39 East Whitney avenue, Shelby, was killed instantly yesterday afternoon, and two other Mansfield area men seriously injured in a spectacular auto-truck collision east of Bucyrus.

Injured were:

Arnold Hiatt, 46, of 63 South Gamble street, Shelby, reported in "fair" condition at Bucyrus city hospital after suffering the amputation of his left arm.

THROWN FROM TRUCK

Marion post highway patrolmen said Zeiters and Hiatt were thrown out of the Bing-Shelby company truck by the impact. Pfleiderer was pinned in his car when the truck rammed into the side of the auto. Patrolmen said Zeiters died instantly of a broken neck.

The accident occurred, officers said, five and three-tenths miles east of Bucyrus at 2:40 p. m. at the three-way junction of U. S. Route 30-N, State Route 602 and a Crawford county road.

Investigation of the accident is under way, officers said. Hiatt was driving the truck and both he and Zeiters were employed by

Killen Quits Job In Tokyo

TOKYO —(INS)— James Killen, chief of the allied occupation headquarters labor division, resigned today.

Killen, one of the youngest leaders of the American Federation of Labor, said he left his Tokyo post because of his disagreement with Gen. Douglas MacArthur's latest declaration regarding Japanese government employes. He added:

"I cannot adjust myself to the new policy of the allied supreme commander which denies government workers the right of collective bargaining."

Army Continues Segregation Plan

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The army stood firm today behind its established policy of segregation of negroes and white troops into separate units.

Army general staff officers said no non-segregation action is necessary now to put into effect a presidential order against racial and other "discrimination." The President did not specifically forbid segregation.

600 Killed In Explosion

'Superfort' Falls In Gulf

19 Men Missing After Accident

ADEN, Aden Protectorate—(INS)—Nineteen American airmen were feared dead today in the crash of one of three globe-circling United States superfortress bombers in the Gulf of Aden

The crash occurred last night one mile off Aden shortly after the B-29 took off.

A known shrvivor, a Sergeant Gustafton, was rescued by local fishermen.

He said he feared that about 19 men had died in the crash.

Sharks infest the waters where the plane made its plunge.

The British Royal navy surveying vessel H.M.S. Dampier, a 1,600-ton craft, and harbor tugs and launches began a widespread search for the superfort.

They were hampered in their search by poor visibility and a monsoon.

The wrecked plane left with two other superforts last Thursday from Tucson, Ariz. The planes were on a two-week test of flying facilities around the world.

After first stopping at the Azores, the craft landed at Tripoli, Libya, on Sunday.

They got into Aden on Monday.

The superforts, after leaving Aden, were scheduled to land at Colombo, Ceylon.

TRUMAN WELL GUARDED

NEW YORK—(INS)—A force of 1,500 policemen will guard President Truman and his party when they visit the International Air exposition Saturday for the dedication of New York's International airport.

Over 1,400 Injured In German Blast

MANNHEIM, Germany—(AP)—Police said between 500 and 600 persons were killed and 1,400 injured today in an explosion and fire which wrecked the I. G. Farben chemical plant at Ludwigshafen.

The disaster in the French zone city appeared to be the greatest in Europe since the war.

Police in Mannheim, an American zone city across the Rhine from Ludwigshafen, said about 1,400 injured already have been taken to hospitals.

The plant and its numerous buildings employs between 6,000 and 7,000 persons in manufacturing chemicals of various types. The main building was a six-story structure.

French officials on the scene reported to U. S. military government men here that the explosion occurred in a structure known as the "nitrate building."

"Flames shot two miles into the sky when the explosion took place," said an American officer in Mannheim, across the Rhine from Ludwigshaven.

Hundreds of windows in Mannheim were smashed by the concussion.

Scores of injured were rushed across the river to Mannheim, from the French to the American zone.

Doctors in Mannheim City hospital said "the hospital is full of victims. They said the other victims pouring in would have to be sent to Heidelberg.

Several telephone lines between Mannheim and Ludwigshafen were destroyed. The stricken city could not be reached from Frankfurt.

The plant was a branch of the sprawling I. G Farbenindustrie Chemical trust before the combine was split up by a four-power order. It was the main factory in Ludwigshafen and covered several acres.

Guns Silent In Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (INS) — Major western powers in the United Nations continued heavy pressure today on both Jews and Arabs to keep the guns in the Holy Land silent.

Similarly, the western bloc made no secret in mid-east circles that a peaceful solution is expected eventually and that Count Folke Barnadotte's formula for such a solution is awaited by the general assembly.

Authoritative sources stressed that the pressure of the major western powers for a peaceful Palestine is closely linked to the battle to hold Soviet Russia in check throughout the world.

These sources point out that in spite of surface gestures by Russia and the Ukraine in the security council, the underlying intention has been to foment trouble in the Holy Land.

STRIKE VOTE PLANNED

Legislators Study Issues

Truman's Program To Get Hearing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senate Republicans decided today to have committees study President Truman's requests for housing and anti-inflation legislation and to make an effort to outlaw the poll tax.

Chairman Millikin (R.-Colo.) of the Republican conference announced the decision after an almost three-hour closed session of the Republican senators.

"It was decided to take up the anti-poll tax bill, and that we will press the matter to decision," Milliken told reporters. "We will make every effort to pass the bill."

Southern Democrats have promised to filibuster against it — a move that possibly would block indefinitely other action by the senate.

Milliken said the Republicans also agreed that the appropriate committees will consider the specific points in Mr. Truman's message to Congress yesterday.

They agreed to act, he said, on anything "of an emergency character and of national importance."

"We were agreed that we should not stay here long enough to interfere with the proper conduct of the campaign," Millikin said, but added that no adjournment time was set.

Republican leaders have laid plans for adjournment as "soon as possible" — probably next week or the week after.

Skies of Dixie All Balled Up

(By International News Service)

Reports of great balls of fire in the sky brought varying explanations today ranging from visitors from Mars, space ships, light from the planet Venus and just plain hallucinations.

The latest reports of the fiery visitors came largely from the deep South.

In Georgia, at least 15 different persons in the Atlanta area told of seeing a ball of fire with a short flaming tail which was variously described as red, green, blue and reddish white.

Widow Awaits Murder Arraignment

'Love Child' Dad Lauds Ex-Sweetheart

CALAIS, Me.—(INS)—A young navy boatswain's mate vowed today he would do all in his power to help attractive Mrs. Margaret Marcil, 33, ex-navy nurse, who said he fathered her "love child."

Reached at a southern navy base the young sailor, the "Paul," who Mrs. Marcil said was the father of her daughter, Catherine, 3, praised her highly. He said, however, that he doubted if he could be much assistance in her present predicament.

Mrs. Marcil is slated for arraignment tomorrow on a charge of murdering her husband of ten months, Oscar Marcil, 55, manager of a Schenectady, N. Y., supermarket, at a wilderness camp on Lake Psednic.

She has denied the charge and claimed that she had no reason to kill Marcil who had promised to adopt Catherine and give her his name.

"Paul," now married and an expectant father said in an interview:

"I met Margaret four or five years ago in England. We met at a naval base called Nettley, across the river from Southampton.

He added:

"We knew each other well in England. She was a wonderful person and we both were fighting a war.

"After 18 months overseas, I got 30 days rehabilitation leave in the states. I was sent back to Louisville, Ky., receiving station.

"When I got to Louisville there were several letters from Margaret waiting for me. It was then that I knew she was going to have a baby.

"She said the baby was expected before long and said she had told her family the father had been killed in action. She wrote me that some other fellow she had met was going to take care of the baby and not to worry.

"I am very much concerned over her trouble but if I do jump into the case it probably will mean a divorce for me. It would ruin my marriage and my navy career. My wife is going to have a baby."

Pair Escapes, Abandoning Stolen Auto

By PAUL KELLAM

FBI agents, the State Highway Patrol, and scores of county and city law enforcement officers today joined in the second big Ohio manhunt within a week.

They are looking for the two young bandits who held up the Tiro Farmers and Citizens national bank at gunpoint yesterday afternoon. Duplicating the intensive hunt for murderers John West and Robert Daniels last week, roadblocks have been set up throughout the north central Ohio area.

A stolen car used by the bandits was found at 6:15 p. m. yesterday near Plymouth by Frank Pitzen.

This touched off an intensive search of the Plymouth area. Local, state, and county police blocked off a woods near the village after officers received reports that the men had been seen entering the woods. The woods was combed but the fugitives were not found.

The bandits, thought to be from 25 to 28 years of age, walked into the little country bank about 1:20 p. m. Tuesday and told Mrs. Edith McNutt, 65, the cashier, "This is a stick-up!"

The robbers escaped with $2,350 in bills which they forced Mrs. McNutt to take from the vault. They overlooked another $3,000 lying in the unlocked teller's till.

Leo Steele, of Shelby R. D. 2, walked into the bank during the holdup and was forced to go behind the counter with Mrs. McNutt while one of the bandits kept them covered with a gun.

Scooping the money into their "T" shirts, the two men fled from the bank to a 1947 blue Plymouth sedan waiting at the curb with the motor running.

The car, bearing license number WL-343, was the same one found abandoned near Plymouth last night. It was stolen from Frank Allen, of Shelby, earlier in the day.

Dr. H. M. Guiss, 84, president of the bank, told newsmen the stolen money was insured. The Federal Bureau of Investigation was called into the case yesterday afternoon since the bank was a member of the Federal Reserve system.

Witnesses Identify Escapees

Two witnesses to the robbery of the Farmers and Citizens National bank at Tiro yesterday afternoon have identified the robbers as the same two men as those who escaped from Ohio State Reformatory last Saturday.

Identification was made from pictures of the two escapees by Mrs. Edith McNutt, cashier at the bank who was held up by the pair, and by Leo Steele, Shelby R. D. 2, who went into the bank while the holdup was under way.

However, another on-the-scene witness, Mrs. Lula Crowl, who served beer to the two bank robbers in a cafe just prior to the holdup, said that the two bank robbers were different than the photos of the two reformatory escapees, James Campbell, 26, and Russell Kansorka, 24.

SERVING 1 TO 20

One of the escapees, Kansorka, was in the reformatory after conviction on an automobile theft charge, and the other, Campbell, was serving a sentence for burglary and auto theft. Both were serving 1 to 20-year sentences, and both had been convicted in Toledo.

Witnesses in the bank robbery gave the following descriptions of the bandits:

One of the two men was described as having dark complexion, of slender build, from 24 to 28 years of age, 5 foot 9 inches tall, and weighing 150 pounds. He was wearing a dark blue polo shirt with light blue stripes and dark slacks. He had dark neatly-combed hair, nice teeth, and soft hands, not like a workingman's.

The other was of fair complexion with sandy hair, and was wearing a light "T" shirt with yellow stripes and dark trousers. He was ing a light "T" shirt with yellow about 26 years old and of the Fingerprint experts from the state highway patrol and the FBI were busy this morning checking fingerprints found in the abandoned car. Two beer bottles, emptied by the bandits in a Tiro tavern before the holdup, yielded no prints, Crawford county Sheriff Ralph E. Schreck said.

Before entering the bank, the gunmen visited the nearby Pastime tavern, where they each consumed a bottle of beer. Mrs. Lula Crowl, wife of the proprietor, W. H. Crowl, who served them, thought they looked suspicious.

ACTED NERVOUS

"They acted nervous," she told reporters, "and I watched them carefully as they drank their beer. I overheard one of them say to the other, 'What the hell's wrong with you?' The other one replied, 'Not a damn thing.'"

With her suspicions fully aroused, Mrs. Crowl went to the front window as they left and observed them as they walked across the street to their car and talked together for a while before getting in. She jotted down the license number of the car as they drove away.

Leo Steele, Shelby, R. D. 2, came into the tavern. Mrs. Crowl told him of her suspicions and together they went again to the front of the tavern and looked up and down the street.

They noticed the car had been driven around the block and was then parked near the bank.

Steele went out of the tavern, crossed the street, and walked past the auto to the bank. Seeing nothing out of the ordinary,

Blast Kills 13 In Mine

PRINCETON, Ind.—(AP)—Grim inspectors probed the depths of King's coal mine today seeking to learn the cause of an explosion which killed 13 miners yesterday afternoon.

It was the second serious explosion in eight months at King's. The previous blast, last November, caused no deaths but was followed by extensive fires which closed the mine for more than two months

The mine had been closed again last week because of water seepage. It had been inspected Sunday by state mine inspectors and had been reopened only yesterday.

The dead and injured were members of a single loading unit which was on the lowest level of Indiana's deepest shaft mine, 433 feet underground, and three miles east of the tipple.

Police Guard Struck Plant

DAYTON—(AP)—Dayton's police were alerted today for a precaution against further violence at the plant of the Univis Lens company where a CIO United Electrical Workers strike is in progress.

Police Chief R. F. Wurstner, who yesterday had nearly 100 policemen on duty at the plant, said his men had been placed on two 12-hour shifts.

His action followed renewed violence along a CIO United Electrical Workers picket line yesterday when Univis employes, answering a back-to-work call by the company, tried to enter the plant.

A Fabulous New Type of show business has developed in the big hotels strung through the Catskill Mountain resorts, sneeringly called for years by performers the "Borscht Circuit." But these restorts have grown and flourished until they have turned cosmopolitan and the favorite liquid is champagne.

Many remarked that the sunset was "out of place," since the western sky is usually lit up by the fading rays of the sun. Feeder Lines Sought

Governor Names Survey Group

Mansfield joined 25 other Ohio cities yesterday in planning a new appeal to the Civil Aeronautics Board for more short-haul feeder airline service.

Although Mansfield would naturally welcome any additional air service, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn indicated today that the city is taking a "wait and see" attitude toward the air service.

"We don't want feeder lines service if it will come at the expense of our present TWA trunk line service," the mayor explained.

Gov. Thomas J. Herbert yesterday appointed a committee to check into the air needs of the 26 cities as the first step of an attempted reopening of requests for feeder service for Ohio.

Last year the CAB granted intermediate trunk line stops for six Ohio cities, Findlay, Lima, Mansfield, Marion, Springfield and Zanesville. At the same time, however, the CAB turned down all feeder line applicants offering to develop an intergrated local service system to a large number of Ohio communities.

At the time the TWA stops were certified, the CAB minority report declared that the move "had the effect of transforming TWA from a trunk line into a local feeder service," and labelled the move a departure from policy.

The minority report also declared that the move left 40 Ohio cities with populations between 10,000 and 100,000 persons without air service and said the present arrangement "gave little promise of providing adequate service to the six communities given TWA service."

Shirley Fails In Her Campaign For Smooch Scene With Husband

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Shirley Temple won't get her wish for a film love scene with husband John Agar.

The actress was campaigning for a smooch scene in their current film, "Baltimore Escapade"—"since we probably won't be doing another picture together for some time." But it didn't fit into the script, she tells me, so they'll have a platonic love affair in the film.

Shirley and John go their separate professional ways after the film. She'll start a new movie in August; all she knows about it is that it's in modern dress. He'll probably start "Mission Without Orders," John Ford's follow-up of "Fort Apache." Richard Berger, "Escapade" producer, tells me John has lost the stiffness he exhibited in his film debut and predicts great things for the boy.

Seeks Bus Service Halt

The Yellow Stripe Cab company today asked the state utilities commission for a 180-day suspension of its permit to operate buses between Mansfield and the Municipal airport.

Walter L. Burghard jr., owner of the company, explained the Sky club has closed for an indefinite period and manufacturing operations at the Mansfield Aircraft Products company have been curtailed, greatly reducing his volume of business.

"If I were just to cease operations, then I would lose my permit and another company could secure the right to serve the airport," he said.

"By asking for a suspension, I can suspend bus service until business picks up, without losing my exclusive right to operate buses to the airport," Burghard explained.

Wind Fells Three Trees

.44 Inch of Rain Soaks Mansfield

A thundering rain storm swept the area early Tuesday evening, uprooting trees and damaging telephone and power lines.

In Adario three trees were felled by the heavy wind. One tree fell against the one-story home of Wade McMillin resting against the chimney.

Neighbors with the aid of a tractor pulled the tree away from the house late last night. The other two trees were quickly removed when one fell across the road and the other across a front yard.

Telephone lines were reported out at Adario, Shelby and the surrounding areas.

Mansfield suffered slight damage when the storm passed over the city. The Richland county maintenance department reported that one tree had fallen across Bowman street road during the heavy rain between 6 to 7 p. m. last night with .44 inch of rainfall reported.

Scattered showers fell in the southeast portion of Ohio today as the rest of the state enjoyed cool and dry weather conditions.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicted a dropping mercury for tonight with increasing cloudiness and warmer followed by scattered showers forecast for tomorrow.

Columbus had the heaviest rainfall for the area last night in inches with 1.78 inches, and Youngstown reported 1.61 inches.

B. & O. Opens Way For Football Trains

The B. and O. railroad opened the way today for the use of special trains for visiting teams and fans at Mansfield high school football games.

The railroad's division office at Newark informed County Engineer Walter E. Rusk that two loading platforms will be built along the tracks at Trimble road, a short distance south of Arlington field.

A. S. Waller, B. and O. division superintendent, said the platforms, 100 feet long and 10 feet wide, will be available for use by the time the football season opens.

Waller told Rusk that one platform will be constructed on each side of Trimble road. Cinders probably will be used for the platforms, Waller said.

Rusk had proposed the platforms in a letter to the railroad early in June, he said.

The Trimble road crossing is convenient to the football stadium, and the county recently built a new bridge near the crossing to facilitate the handling of traffic over Trimble road to Arlin field.

While no plans have been announced as yet for special football trains, it is expected that growing interest in the games here will make it necessary to schedule trains for fans coming here from other Ohio cities.

Asks Briefs In Action

Attorneys for the parties in an equity action were instructed in Common Pleas court during a hearing yesterday to file briefs in the case.

The case involves Louise Finley, 222 North Franklin avenue, who contends that she performed her part of an agreement to buy lot 7922, Mansfield, from the defendants. [illegible]ge and Bessie Satterlee.

She contended the agreement called for paying $1,100 for the property, but that the defendants have refused to turn the warranty deed to the property over to her.

Attorneys George W. Biddle and Robert W. Lett represented the plaintiff and Attorney Homer G. Clark represented the defendants.

Another equity case set for yesterday was dismissed by the plaintiff, Sam Stankovitch, Ashland road. Stankovich had asked that a receiver be appointed for the Black Fork market on the Ashland road.

Defendants in the action were Alexander and Paul Doaga, 142 East Fifth street, who, Stankovich said, left the business Nov. 7, 1946, and refused to continue in the partnership.

Stankovich had asked that the partnership be dissolved, a receiver appointed, and a distribution of assets made.

Attorneys Beam and Beam represented Stankovich.

The case of a 16-year-old youth, accused of being incorrigible and refusing to listen to the discipline of his parents, was continued yesterday in juvenile court. The case was continued for further investigation.

The petition called for removal of a 10-foot strip on either side of the 60-foot road, making it a 40-foot street.

City Ups Its Revenue Estimates For Rest of 1948

Mansfield will have more money available during the remainder of the year than was predicted in January.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelly has completed a re-estimation of expected income, and his report shows that some receipts total as much as 15 per cent greater than the January estimate.

The largest increase was in the monies available as the city's share of gas tax and automobile registration fees. The 15 per cent increase leaves $41,042 available for appropriation.

Kelley explained that the anticipated gas shortage predicted the beginning of the year did not materialize, so estimates based on the shortage indicated receipts lower than actually will be available.

There is $114,476 available for the water department. This figure was upped as a result of the recently increased water rates.

Other funds available for appropriation in 1948 include $45,387 in the general fund, $5,328 in the garbage fund; $6,810 in the airport fund, $2,999 in the parking meter fund and $2,500 in the public recreation fund.

Bobby Feller Needs Help But Wins, 10-5

FAIR OR FOUL

by LAWTON CARVER

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK—(INS)—The death of Joe Tinker removed one of the last few survivors of what is commonly known as the old school of baseball players.

When the little one-time shortstop of the Chicago Cubs succumbed yesterday on his 68th birthday it removed from this vale the last of the famed trio of Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance.

It also took away one of those hard-bitten old-timers who played the game for keeps—all the way. In fact, according to song and legend he and Johnny Evers, the Cub second baseman, played the game so hard that they didn't even speak to each other for years.

THEIR BURNING hatred of each other, however, did not prevent their throwing that ball around in such a way that they became a legend. They and Frank Chance, the first baseman, made up the most famous double play combination of all times.

It probably wasn't the best one, for we have guys around today who are a little better than fair hands, but the old Cubs were never forgotten although their antics in the infield took place early in the century.

The strangest thing about the famed infield is that the trio who came to fame at shortstop, second base and first base actually came into the majors to play other position—if we can believe the historians.

Tinker was a third baseman, Evers a shortstop and Chance a catcher. If they had kept those positions you probably would never have heard of them among the all time great stars.

THEY WERE good—according to the yellowed books—but their main value sprung from a combination and not as individuals.

It was Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance. They hustled, cajoled and fought the Cubs to four pennants in gaining a large measure of baseball immortality. Chance died in 1924 and Evers a year ago.

They were at their height from around 1906 to 1912 and all three wound up in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

Old-timers like these gave baseball its foundation, and helped to mould it into what is known today as the national pastime. Their sheer excellence made them colorful and their feats day in and day out gave the game its luster.

They were tough in a tough era and they loved it.

Joe Gordon, Ken Keltner Get Homers

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland Indians, who just recently decided they would either sink or swim with Bob Feller, swam right into second place today without any apparent aid from the ex-fireball king.

Feller started last night's game against Philadelphia all right, but pitched only six innings, and it was bespectacled Ed Klieman, the scheduled starter, who pulled Cleveland's 10-5 victory out of the fire.

Feller lasted long enough to get credit for the win, his 10th of the season, due largely to a pair of robust four-run innings compiled by the Tribesmen.

GO INTO SECOND

The victory lifted Cleveland two percentage points ahead of the A's, but left them still a game and a half behind Boston.

Cleveland gave Feller a four-run working margin in the first inning. Allie Clark and Dale Mitchell hit consecutive triples and Manager Lou Boudreau followed with a double. Boudreau came home on Joe Gordon's single, and Gordon himself scored when Third-Baseman Don White let Kenny Keltner's slow roller go through him for an error.

The A's retaliated with one run in the second on a pair of hits and Feller's wildness, but Cleveland came back with one more in the third. Gordon's 19th homer of the season.

The A's tied the score in the fifth when Sam Chapman powdered a grand slam home run off Feller. Again a pair of Feller walks paved the way for the near-fatal blow.

Cleveland sewed up the win in the sixth with four more runs, however. Keltner started the uprising with a single to left. Jim Hegan also singled and the bases were filled when Hal Peck, batting for Feller, scratched out a single along the third base line.

DOBY GETS HOT

Larry Doby singled home Keltner and Hegan, Peck scored on an infield grounder and Mitchell's second hit of the game scored Doby.

Keltner added Cleveland's final tally with a tremendous home run over the left field fence in the seventh frame.

Feller was cheered more lustily last night than ever before this season, but the cheers turned to jeers after Chapman's mighty blow.

Probably the most disheartened man in the Indians' camp, if not Feller, was Klieman, who had been scheduled to start his first game since 1945.

Instead, he just proved once more what a capable fireman he is. He gave up just two hits in his three-inning stint.

CHAMP DOWN—Down the second time in the tenth round, Gus Lesnevich takes a count of nine before rising to go on in his losing fight against Freddy Mills in London Monday. The Cliffside, N. J., light-heavyweight was a 3-1 favorite, but lost his world title.

Lowly Bushnell 9 Upsets Prospect In League, 13-5

Bushnell, standing in ninth place in the 10-team Elementary league, pulled a surprise 13-5 victory over league-leading Prospect in the feature game of the Hot Stove leagues yesterday.

Bushnell handed Prospect its first league defeat by the simple method of stopping its meal ticket, Larry Zartman. Zartman, the league's leading pitcher and batter, was stopped in both departments. He went hitless in three times at bat and was touched for 11 hits.

Other elementary league games went to Bowman, 9-4, over Carpenter and to Newman, 13-2, over St. Peter's.

ONE-MAN SPREE

John Stranski went on a one-man batting rampage to lead Exchange club to a 12-7 victory over Mitsch's Corner Store in the Junior league. Stranski collected two singles, a double and home run in four times at bat.

Jack Phenger pitched four-hit ball for the Odd Fellows to defeat the Eagles 6-4 in the other Junior game. The Odd Fellows scored twice in the sixth to win.

Both major league games were halted by rain. Yuncker's was leading Sons of Herman, 3-2, in the third inning, and Ohio Sports Center paced Zitzer's, 3-1, in the fourth when the rain came.

A change in the night twinbill at Gorman-Rupp field tomorrow has been announced by Ed Chatlain, junior baseball commissioner. Chatlain said today that Bowman would replace Carpenter in the 6:15 p. m. opener. Members of the Carpenter team are on vacation.

The card now lines up: St. Peter's vs. Bowman, 6:15 p. m. and Newman vs. Prospect, 7:45 p. m.

Dissension Brews In Olympic Camp

LONDON—(UP)—Reports of dissension in the American ranks on the eve of the opening of the Olympic games tomorrow gave rise to unusual optimism today among the nations competing against the United States for the unofficial team championship.

Until now the 61 other nations have been given little chance against the 378-member U. S. team which has been described as possibly the greatest squad in Olympic history. But they have gained renewed hope from the dissension reports which center around the Yank track and field squad.

Even among the strongest U. S. teams, observers found signs of discontent and the American officials were visibly worried.

It was no secret that many American athletes were dissatisfied and it was obvious that the track and field squad was among the bitterest.

THINLIES COMPLAIN

Many of the track men were complaining that Coach Dean Cromwell of Southern California was devoting all his efforts to coaching sprinter Mel Patton of the same university and was not taking an interest in the other members of the team.

Barney Ewell of Lancaster, Pa., who finished ahead of Patton in the 100-meter qualifying trials, complained that Cromwell was having him practice starts with only a brief instant between "set" and "go," despite knowledge that the Olympics starters would be much slower.

There were complaints, too, that the athletes were "being treated like children instead of men and women" and there were reports that some coaches had told their players to disregard the curfew and go out and have a good time.

The long-promised, long-awaited U. S. food was due to show up on the training tables today, but some teams weren't waiting — they were setting out to find steaks wherever they could.

It was clear that the morale of the U. S. squad was far from at its best — but the Americans remained the favorites for that unofficial title.

Plumbers Win Surprise Tilt From Toolmen

Farm Tools fell from the ranks of the undefeated in the Industrial league yesterday as Mansfield Plumbing won a 2-1 decision in an abbreviated game at North Lake park.

The Toolmen, still in first place with a game-and-a-half lead of Tappan Stove, protested because they had been visiting team in both games with the Plumbers.

The game was stopped in the sixth inning by darkness, just before the beginning of the rain. Originally it was scheduled for today but was moved up late yesterday because of the district tournament.

The night twinbill at Gorman-Rupp field was rained out last night. Komito's Clothes had been scheduled against Greystone Nite club in the Independent softball league while Rebecca Grubaugh and Woodland had been listed in a Hot Stove Elementary league encounter.

★

Vacations and the district tournament has knocked down tonight's Industrial league schedule to one game. Ideal Electric will meet Telephone company at Liberty park.

Peggy Breaks Record

TOLEDO —(AP)— Peggy Kirk smashed the women's record at Inverness course yesterday in opening defense of her Toledo women's district golf championship. The Findlay Curtis Cup player, playing from men's tees, fired a 37-36—73, five under par of 38-40—78 and four strokes better than the previous record of 77.

Mansfielders Play Leesville In Ball Meet

Three Mansfield baseball teams will meet out-of-town teams this evening, with the Mansfield Grays entry into the district baseball tournament at Ada heading the list.

The Grays, backed by their 12 won and 9 lost record, will meet the tough Leesville Reds at 5 p. m. at Ada Memorial park. Jack Hammett, mound mainstay of Manager Lefty Deeds staff, will seek his sixth victory against a single defeat.

Leesville defeat Cairo, 9-6, in its first game of the tournament Sunday. Semi-finals will be played Saturday at Ada and the finals Sunday night at Halloran park, Lima.

The district champion American Legion Juniors will be host to a Sandusky All-Star junior team at 5:30 p. m. Dutch Bader, Madison high school curve-ball artist, will do the pitching for Manager Dewey Durant's Legionnaires.

The game will be the last warm-up for the juniors before the opening of the state Legion tournament at Columbus next Monday. The team will check in a Columbus Sunday.

★

T. and E. Tavern will be the other team to see action, travelling to Shelby for a 5:30 p. m. game with the Shelby Blues. Jerry Novacic will do the pitching for the Taverns.

The Taverns will meet the OSR All-Stars Saturday at 1 p. m. and will be host to Ontario at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Liberty park.

Bulgaria Drops Out of Olympics

LONDON —(INS)— Bulgaria announced the withdrawal today of its team from the Olympic games.

The British Olympic organizing committee received a telegram from Bulgarian officials which said their team "owing to unexpected difficulties is unable to make the journey."

The Bulgarian withdrawal leaves 60 nations still scheduled to take part. There was one unconfirmed report that Romania also might drop out.

Marshman, Adams Pace Colony Loop

Evelyn Marshman and Dick Adams paced teams in the Mixed Doubles bowling league at Colony alleys last night with scores of 353-368-367—1088.

Adams had a 203 series to boost the team along but lost individual series honors to Harry Swimley who rolled 197-190-175—562.

2 Amateurs Pace Field In Tourney

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio AP Sports Editor

TOLEDO —(AP)— There's a pretty good chance that the winner of the Ohio Open golf championship which winds up today at Sylvania Country club won't get the $1,000 first prize.

A field of 64, survivors of the 163 starters, was booked for a twice-around performance today—the final 36 holes of the 72-hole medal play test.

And right out front as 41 professionals and 23 amateurs launched the final whirl, were two simon pures—neither eligible for the $1,000 lion's share of the $2,800 pot of gold.

STRANAHAN LEADS

Leading the pack, and favored to stay there, was 25-year-old Frankie Stranahan of Toledo, British and Canadian amateur champion, who opened Monday with a two-under-par 70 to tie for the lead and then rolled in yesterday with a 69 to get off by himself with 139.

Two strokes back, after adding a 69 to his opening 72, was 34-year-old Johnny Nowack of Cleveland, a public links amateur. The 69's each contributed by the play-for-fun entrants, were the best efforts of the opening rounds.

Denny Shute, Akron's two-time PGA champ, former British open and Ohio amateur king, and a three-time winner of this event, was the top man in the professional field with 142 strokes. Shute had a 70 yesterday and he hit the halfway mark three strokes off the pace and two under par. Should an amateur win the title, the $1,000 goes to the leading professional.

Mansfield's entrants, Westbrook pro Tom Raklets and amateur Dale Rose, both dropped out after yesterday's round as the field was pared to those who had shot 156 or better.

Rose had 83-78—161 and Raklets 84-81—165.

OUT OF RUNNING

Al Marchi of Troy, the defending champion, qualified easily with 148, but appeared out of the title chase as he settled down nine strokes back of Stranahan.

At even par 144 were Billy Burke of Cleveland, 1931 national open winner and three time victor in the state meet, and Phil Perkins, 1927 British amateur victor and 1937 state open champ. Tied at 145 were Clyde Mumma, the long hitter from Dayton and Andy Mocsary of Salem.

Bill Says:

"Can You Tie This?"

There's something about a new tie that adds a zest to life. If the price of meat has left you hungry; if your wife has departed with the janitor, buy yourself a new tie and forget all about it.

Al Rosen In Midst Of Home Run Spree

(By Associated Press)

Al Rosen, stocky 23-year-old Kansas City infielder is on one of the hottest home run hitting streaks of the American Association season.

Rosen, who won the Texas league batting crown last year with .349, slammed three homers in consecutive innings Monday and smashed two more last night in boosting Kansas City to an 8-4 triumph over St. Paul.

Police Recreation Team Drops Game To Galion, 6 to 2

The Police Recreation team of the Hot Stove Junior league dropped a 6-2 decision to the Galion All-Stars at Galion yesterday.

Manager Gene Hartnett's team was unable to cope with their more experienced opponents and spotted them five runs in the first three innings before they could get going.

The Police scored their two runs in the fifth on an error, single, base on balls, and a double by Chuhaloff.

Gorman-Rupp Plays Shelby

Mansfield Gorman-Rupp will entertain Shelby VFW at 8:30 tonight in a non-league game, Manager Nick Weber announced this morning.

Jim "Stretch" Regula, who has been having trouble recently getting the ball over the plate will do the pitching for Gorman-Rupp.

The Webermen will travel to Tiffin for a league game Friday night and Saturday will meet the Ashland Indians in a postponed game. The contest has been booked for 8 p. m. at Ashland Brookside park.

Brown Begins Shifting Men To New Posts

BOWLING GREEN —(INS)—The Cleveland Browns' Bowling Green training camp is only three days old today, but already Coach Paul Brown is going to work shifting players to meet his needs.

Clevelander John Prchlik, former Yale all-American, is listed as a tackle on the Browns' roster, and has played nothing but that position all through his high school and college days.

But yesterday, the husky Eli worked out with the ends, and it appears likely that if he stays with the Browns at all, it will be at a defensive flanker post.

Prchlik, at 220 pounds, is 20 pounds lighter than any other tackle on the squad. With that 220 pounds spread over a six-foot, four-inch frame, Prchlik compares favorably with the Cleveland ends, however.

Brown gave the squad yesterday the results of the statistical study of the 1947 season completed recently by his staff. The study revealed that the Browns passed 40 per cent of the time they had possession of the ball, ran with it the other 60 per cent.

They averaged 5.2 yards per attempt on the ground, and 8.1 in the air.

'Castoff' Nelson Potter Wins For Boston

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Billy Southworth, Boston Braves' manager, continues to have amazing success with castoffs.

Southworth's latest "find" is Nelson Potter, the veteran right-hander he picked up a month ago as a free agent after the latter was fired by Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Potter thus joins those who have made fine comebacks under the expert guidance of Southworth.

Potter, who won his first start against Pittsburgh, got his second last night and again came through with a well-pitched game. This time the American league discard permitted the Pirates only six hits in defeating them 5-1 in Boston. He did not allow a run after Ralph Kiner tagged him for his 28th home run in the first inning. He did not issue a single base on balls and struck out four, including Kiner in the ninth inning.

The victory in the opener of a 20-game home stand enabled the Braves to widen their first place margin over the rest of the field to five and a half games.

Boston's other Major league entry, Joe McCarthy's rampaging Red Sox, extended their winning streak to 13 straight games by blanking the Tigers in Detroit, 8-0. Ellis Kinder turned in his best performance since his purchase from the St. Louis Browns, holding the Tigers to three hits. Hal Newhouser, Detroit's ace southpaw, was the victim.

Boston's triumph together with the Indians' 10-5 victory over the Athletics in Cleveland, gave the Red Sox a full-game lead in the tight American league pennant race. Although the Indians trail by a game and a half to Philadelphia's one, they took over second place from the A's through a mathematical oddity. The A's, with four more victories and three more defeats than Cleveland, are two percentage points behind the Tribe.

The Brooklyn Dodgers replaced the St. Louis Cardinals in the runner-up spot in the National league by coming from behind with two runs in the ninth to nip the Redbirds, 3-2, in Brooklyn in the only game played in daylight.

Larry Jansen turned in his second straight shutout and 13th victory of the season as he pitched the New York Giants to a 3-0 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

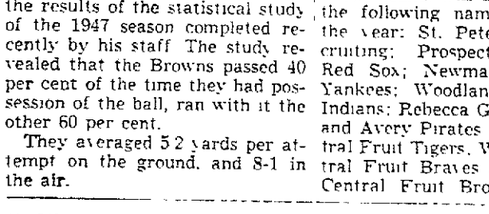

The victory moved the Giants into the first division, a half game ahead of the Pirates, and one game behind the Cardinals.

A crowd of 54,609 Detroit fans saw the Red Sox snap Newhouser's five-game winning streak by knocking him out with five runs in three innings. Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr did the heavy stickwork. Kinder had a no-hitter until Johnny Lipon doubled with one out in the sixth. The turnout upped Detroit's home attendance over the million mark to 1,000,166.

Rookie Hank Arft making his Major league debut with the St. Louis Browns, drove in three runs with a triple and home run to lead the Browns to a 4-0 triumph over the New York Yankees. Cliff Fannin held the Yankees to three hits in gaining his seventh victory. Arft had arrived yesterday from Toledo to take over the regular first base duties.

Pat Seerey walloped his 14th home run with Luke Appling on base and two out in the last of the ninth to give the Chicago White Sox a 2-1 triumph over the Washington Senators.

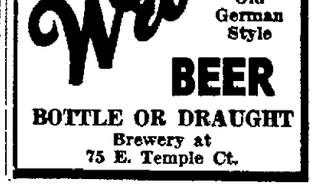

Bob Scheffing's pinch single scored Clarence Maddern with the run in the 11th inning that gave the Chicago Cubs a 3-2 victory over Dutch Leonard and the Phils in Philadelphia. The hit spoiled Eddie Sawyer's debut as Philly manager.

Ohio Congressmen Class Session as Political Sideshow

4 Democrats Pledge Their Full Support

Republicans Flay Truman's Message

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Ohio's Republican members of Congress today regarded President Truman's legislative session as something of a political sideshow which must be endured as part of their jobs.

Ohio's four congressional Democrats, however, praised the President's message and promised their support of his program.

The Republican members definitely want no part of price control or rationing in any form, but might support credit restrictions.

Sen. Robert A. Taft said of the President's program, "It would take six months to consider the President's whole program. That only emphasizes the obvious political nature of his call for the special session."

Sen. John W. Bricker and four Ohio House members were absent when the President delivered his message.

The four House absentees were Reps. John M. Vorys, Columbus; Homer A. Ramey, Toledo; Charles H. Elston and William E. Hess, Cincinnati, all Republicans. Hess and Ramey are recovering from illnesses.

COMMENTS UNFAVORABLE

Here's what other Ohioans had to say of the President's program:

Congressman - at - Large George H. Bender (R-Cleveland)—"After dumping 20 billion dollars of our goods abroad, Mr. Truman wants to put the responsibility for higher prices on the Congress when in actual fact, the present inflation has been caused directly by his waste and spend policy."

Rep. William McCulloch (R-Piqua)—"I do not believe the majority of the people want price control and rationing at this time."

Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins (R-Ironton—"The message fell flat. Congress may look into high prices, but the President's recommendations are for extravagant expenditures."

Rep. P. W. Griffiths (R-Marietta)—"The high cost of living is of paramount importance, but as long as Mr. Truman insists on greater expenditures we are going to have high prices. He is not sincere."

Rep. Earl R. Lewis (R-St. Clairsville) — "Some things, such as credit controls, are good. But not at this time. I'd feel much better if we had Tom Dewey in the White House to enforce the laws we make."

Rep. Walter Brehm (R-Logan) —"He failed to touch on the thing people want to know about, our relations with Russia and whether we are to have peace or war."

Rep. Alvin P. Weichel (R-Sandusky—"The President has not used the power we have given him to curb high costs by curbing exports to foreign countries.

Contractor Asks $23,026

The Daumit Construction company today requested that the city of Mansfield withhold further payments to the Roger J. Au company, contractors on the Clear Fork dam, until Au pays $23,026 allegedly owed Daumit for subcontracting work.

The notification sent to the city by the law firm of Beam and Beam, in effect, notifies the city that the Daumit Construction company is seeking the money.

The letter sent to the city alleges also that on the completion of the dam, another $15,448 will fall due to the Daumit Construction company from the Au company.

Wartime USO Will Be Revived

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The USO is coming back. It is the wartime organization that provided clubs and shows for servicemen.

Defense Secretary Forrestal said today he has approved a civilian advisory committee's recommendation that the United Service Organizations be reborn to meet a need created by the expansion of the armed forces.

Manhunt on For Tiro's Bank Bandits; Car Found

he went in to see if Mrs. McNutt had seen where the men went.

Coming face to face with the bandits he was "ushered" behind the counter with the remark, "If you make a move we'll shoot you right between the eyes."

CALLS SHERIFF

As soon as the gunmen left, Steele phoned Crawford county Sherriff Ralph Schreck.

Roadblocks, manned by the sheriff's deputies, state highway patrolmen and Shelby city police, were set up on all highways leading from the village.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Lutz of Galion, told patrolmen they saw a blue Plymouth answering the description of the escape car near Chatfield at 3 p. m. Tuesday.

The occupants, Mrs. Lutz said, were acting very suspicious.

"They got out of the car and put on coats and hats," she said. "They were laughing and slapping each other on the back, apparently rejoicing."

Mrs. Lutz added that the two men removed a brown leather brief case from the rear seat and looked into it. "Then they laughed some more," she said.

A check with Frank Allen, owner of the auto, revealed that there was no clothing or a brief case in the car when it was stolen.

"There was nothing but a magazine on the back seat," Allen said.

"The governor feels that the Congress should stay in Washington and give careful consideration to whatever is proposed in the President's message," Hagerty said.

Payne Free Under Bond

Forrest Payne, former business agent of Local 758, UE in Mansfield, cited twice this week for assault and battery in strike violence at a Dayton plant, was reported released from Dayton city jail on bond today.

The Dayton Daily News reported to The News-Journal that Payne was arrested yesterday when he allegedly forced his way into a cordon of Dayton policemen and struck a non-striking employe of the Univis Lens plant. Payne was cited Monday morning on a similar charge and hearing was set for Aug. 23.

The Univis strike, now in its 84th day, is one of the most violent in Dayton's history.

Company officials today kept their word that all employes who returned to work by Thursday would receive higher wages.

Union officials reported injured in this morning's battle were Lou Koplan, 33, UE International organizer, and Lem Markland, 43, who identified himself as general vice president of the UE International.

Meanwhile, The News-Journal's report that Payne was believed "ousted" from his post here around the first of the year was vigorously denied by UE officers.

Marion L. Gerrell, president of Local 758, UE, said the "officers of this local have only the highest recommendation for Payne."

"The officers of UE Local 758 wish to make it clear that Forrest Payne was not 'ousted,' or in any manner pressured to quit his job as business agent of this local," Gerrell said.

"During the period Payne worked for the local he won the respect and praise of not only the officers but of the membership of this local as well," Gerrell said.

3rd Tiro Bank Theft Upsets Village Quiet

TIRO—This drowsy village, nestled in the lush, rolling farm lands of Crawford county, today was still bustling with feverish excitement over its third bank robbery in 16 years.

"Doc" W. M. Guiss' Farmers and Citizens bank—a reconverted general store resembling any other general store minus a cracker barrel—was looted by "two amateur punk bandits" yesterday in broad daylight.

Armed thugs made two other attempts on the tiny Tiro bank. In 1932, bandits made off with approximately $2,700. Doc. Guiss thwarted the second robbery in 1935 when he sounded an alarm.

Bank President Guiss, whose title "Doc" stems from his medical practioning days more than 30 years ago, had nothing but contempt for the robbers. He dismissed them as an amateurish couple of punks.

THUGS MISS CASH

"Why they passed up three thousand dollars in the unlocked cashier's till," the grey-haired doc exclaimed.

He recalled the 1935 robbery attempt when he was in the cage: "I stopped them with the alarm then and I'd have let these punks have it if I was here yesterday."

Guiss left his cashier, Mrs. Edith McNutt, in charge while he did a "couple of chores."

Mrs. McNutt, 65-year-old teller, animatedly related to Crawford county Sheriff Ralph Schreck how the youthful bandits forced her and a passer-by, Leo Steele, 20-year-old Shelby Tube company worker, into the rear of the bank.

"They kept guns pointed at us and forced me to open the big safe," she said.

Steele, recalling the incident, sighed: "My but that was a big gun!"

WOMAN SUSPICIOUS

The bandits first aroused the suspicions of Mrs. W. L. Crowl, wife of the Pastime tavern proprietor, who related, "Two strange looking men nervously ordered beer." She observed them drive around the block in their stolen late model blue sedan and told Steele, a bystander, to investigate.

Young Steele arrived in time to hear one of the armed thugs give his version of a Hollywood-style hold-up: "This is a stick-up!"

Steele was "obliged," he said, to witness the rest of the drama from a chair with the admonition: "Don't move or we'll plug you between the eyes."

BANK REIMBURSED

Eighty-four-year-old Guiss, informed that the insurance company was ready to reimburse the bank's loss immediately, was playfully showing sheriff's deputies and police officers how he would have held the gunmen at bay with his pistol.

"That's what you say now," the victimized Mrs. McNutt dryly commented.

Pick Bandits As Escapees

about 26 years old and of the same height, but thinner. Neither one of them wore jewelry of any kind.

SEEN IN TAVERN

The descriptions were obtained from Mrs. McNutt, Steele, Mrs. Crowl, John Ferrell, who was in the tavern when the bandit pair drank there, and Mrs. M. F. Griffeth, a clerk in a dry goods store near the bank. Mrs. Griffeth said she saw the men as they left the bank, entered their car and sped away.

Other reports were that two men answering the description of the bandits had been seen repeatedly at a bar in Shelby prior to the theft of the car and the subsequent robbery yesterday.

These men were described as "wine addicts," having on numerous occasions ordered quantities of white port wine. They were seen by Leon Kline and Bordon Sharpeless, both of Shelby.

Kline and Sharpeless were witnesses when the Allen automobile was stolen at Shelby.

Hubbell Offers To Quit Race

Charles H. Hubbell, Cleveland attorney, and candidate for the office of judge of the Supreme court of Ohio on the Democratic ticket, announced today he would withdraw if he "could feel that the state central committee would put Hon. Ray T. Miller in (his) place on the ballot."

Hubbell made the announcement in letters to Mrs. Dorothy M. Davis, 82 Glenwood boulevard, Mansfield, state central committeewoman for the 17th congressional district, and to Ralph Lutz, chairman of the Richland county Democratic executive committee.

Wallace Asks Time on Radio

NEW YORK — (INS) — Henry A. Wallace has demanded equal time in the nation's radio and television networks to reply to President Truman's address before the summer session of Congress.

The Progressive party's presidential candidate charged that the president "without subterfuge has used your facilities to further his campaign."

Network officials had no immediate comment.

Draft Chiefs Plan Simple Registration

25-Year-Olds Get First Call

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Selective service officials said today that registration for the new 19-through-25 draft will be made as painless as possible.

They said that in cases where the older registrants are clearly exempt from service, they may not even have to fill out questionnaires. This will be especially true in the case of veterans, whose military records are known to their draft boards.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey told the Senate armed services committee yesterday that his organization hopes "to bring certainty to the upper age groups as soon as possible as to whether they will or won't be taken."

He said selective service will call the 25-year-olds first and then work backward to the 19-year-olds. He added, however, that only about 8,000 25-year-olds will be taken into service. Of the 5,000,000 men in the 22-through-25 age group, all but about 70,000 will be deferred.

It will ask for about 30,000 men. It was expected that this first call will take all the eligible men in the 25 and 24-year-old brackets and most of the eligibles in the 23-year-old group.

Senate committee members, including Chairman Chan Gurney, (R-SD) gave Hershey's "age group" plan their blessing. Gurney originally had favored a lottery for determining which registrants would be called first.

Selective service said local boards will start sending out draft questionnaires soon after registration begins on Aug. 30. It said registrants will have "at least 10 days" to fill out the forms.

Movie Chain Facing Suit Of $345,000

Monopoly Charged In Schine Case

COLUMBUS —(INS)—A $345,000 suit for damages against the Schine circuit, largest independent movie chain in the country, was filed in U.S. District court in Columbus today.

Plaintiffs Emerson W. Long and Edwin B. Long, of Cadiz, charged that the defendants "conspired to monopolize . . . the exhibition of motion pictures in Schine towns . . . and to suppress competition in violation of . . . the Sherman anti-trust act and the Clayton anti-trust act."

Named in the suit are five New York concerns, the Schine Teatrical corporation, the Schine Chain Theatres, Inc., Schine Circuit, Inc., Schine Enterprises corporation and Schine Lexington corporation.

A sixth Ohio concern, Belpik Theatre corporation of Cleveland also was named.

The suit stated that the Schine chain operated 148 theatres in 73 towns in New York, Ohio, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia and Kentucky. Ohio has 10 Schine theatres and Kentucky eight.

The Long partners, former operators of the Memorial theatre in Mt. Vernon, claimed that the defendants arbitrarily deprived their competition of first and second-run features, obtained unreasonable clearances and film rental concessions not available to competitors.

They further charged that the defendants "created a condition where open competition was completely stifled by the threat to exclude from their 'closed towns' the product of any distributor resisting their demands."

Seek Public Road Usage

Reestablishment as public highway of a road section east of the Pleasant Hill road in eastern Richland county has been requested in a petition to the county commissioners.

The section consists of slightly more than one-half mile of the road, and extends from the end of the Pleasant Hill road to the Ashland county line.

Ashland county commissioners have established a right-of-way on the same road in Ashland county.

Commissioners set Aug. 26 at 10 a. m. for viewing the proposed right-of-way, and Sept. 1 at 10 a. m. for final hearing on the petition.

There is a poorly conditioned road there now, the petition indicated.

West, Daniels Staged Whirlwind Courtships

Telephone Girls Nearly Wed Killers

Two teen-age St. Louis girls who almost became the brides of the mad-dog killers of the three Niebels and three other victims, called John C. West and Robert Murl Daniels "perfect gentlemen."

Miss Shirley Myers, 19, said, "It doesn't seem possible that they could be so nice to us and so mean to other people."

Miss Myers and Miss Betty Fisher, 17, telephone operators, accepted blind dates with the two men Thursday, July 13, at the request of another telephone operator. The girls said they had no reason to doubt the pair's story that they were on vacation and that Daniels had inherited $150,000 and a contracting business.

West and Daniels were visiting an old acquaintance of West's, Kenneth (Jimmy) Nofziger in St. Louis. It was Nofziger who arranged the blind dates through a girl friend.

Nofziger and the girls said they knew nothing of the pair's background of robbery and killing.

PROPOSED FIRST TIME

West proposed to Miss Fisher on the night of their first date. She accepted and they decided to go to Arkansas to get married. Daniels and Miss Myers were going along to stand up for them. Later they decided to get married, too

Both girls said they accepted the dates because they had quarreled with their "steady" boy friends. They decided to get married to "show" their former boy friends.

Thus began a four-day whirlwind courtship in which the girls were lavished with jewelry and new clothes, but returned home single.

The quartet drove to Farmingham and Poplar Bluff, Mo., then on to Corning, Ark. The girls tried to call their parents and Miss Myers finally succeeded. Her mother persuaded her to come home for the marriage.

The girls said that when their companions learned that the police were looking for the girls they decided to take them into Illinois and put them on a train for home. West and Daniels, already wanted for a brutal murder in Columbus, ironically told the girls, "We could get 10 years in prison for taking you across state lines."

The men bought train tickets to St. Louis for the girls in Mt. Vernon, Ill., and gave them money for taxi fare from the station to their homes, they said.

When they parted on July 16, it was decided that the men would revisit St. Louis in seven or eight days for a final decision, since Miss Myers related that she was doubting the wisdom of marrying Daniels by that time. It was just seven days later that West was killed and Daniels was captured near Van Wert.

BOTH CARRIED GUNS

Although both men carried pistols, the girls said they accepted their explanation that they had been robbed previously and were going to be prepared next time. The girls also recalled that the glove compartment of the car in which they were traveling contained a large number of bills, mostly of $10 denomination.

It was some $600 of this money which was used to buy each of the girls two $30 dresses for the anticipated wedding ceremonies and a ring and watch each.

"It was a crazy trick," Miss Myers told St. Louis reporters. "I guess we'd both have been very sorry if we'd gone through with the marriages. I kept thinking I was hurting my former boy friend, but now I realize I was only hurting myself. I'm through with men for good, now."

Daniels evidently had a way with women, for an unidentified Jamestown, N. Y., girl told police that she had been engaged to him also. The girl was waiting for Daniels to return when she learned of his capture.

Urges New School Aid

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Rep. Landis (R.) Ind., said today that he will introduce in the House Thursday a new aid-to-education bill as a substitute for the 300 million dollars measure approved by the Senate.

House passage of the Senate-approved bill, which has been bottled up in the House rules committee, was one of the legislative recommendations made by President Truman Tuesday in his address to Congress.

Landis, ranking majority member of the House education and labor committee, said his substitute bill has the support of several Congressmen, including Reps. McGowan (R.), Ohio; Kearns (R.), Pa., and Nixon (R.), Calif.

The Landis bill would provide for the appropriation of 248 million dollars in federal funds for allocation among the states for the construction of school buildings and for student education.

Landis said that his new measure would eliminate federal control over the use of the funds, which would be handled by the states.

Southerner Demands Truman Impeachment

CAMDEN, S. C. —(LE)— Impeachment of President Truman was urged Tuesday in letters sent members of the South Carolina congressional delegation by State Sen. R. M Kennedy.

Kennedy suggested that impeachment be the first action taken at the special session which convened yesterday.

Better Business for Ohio

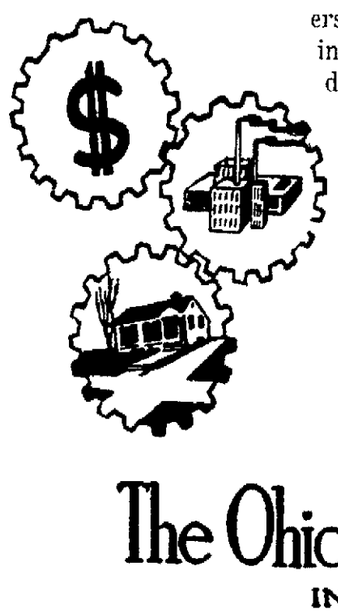

Savings invested in plants, materials and personnel have built a great industrial empire in Ohio. Part of the success of the state's development springs from the services performed by its investment dealers who bring investors' savings into industry through sale of stocks and bonds.

More muscle for the industrial giant was provided during the first half of 1948 when Ohio investment firms bought for re-sale more than $85 million of corporate securities. Savings invested in these stocks and bonds produce:

Factory Expansions
Utility Improvements
More Jobs
Better Markets

The tabulation, compiled by the Investment Dealers Digest, shows The Ohio Company as underwriter in 32 offerings of securities—leading all investment firms in Ohio in number of issues during the first half of 1948. The Ohio Company also led all dealers with offices exclusively in Ohio in dollar volume of underwritings during that period.

Great and growing Ohio deserves the best, and investment dealers are striving to provide it with the best services of this industry. Therefore, it is an honor to be the leader in this field.

Truman Proposes Half-Way Measures

THAT OLD puzzler, "What would happen if an irresistible force should meet an immovable body?", bears some resemblance to the present effort to head off inflation without removing its causes.

President Truman hands Congress a formula which involves partial restoration of price controls but sidesteps the issue of wage controls by suggesting that "non-inflationary wage increases can and should continue to be made by free collective bargaining."

There can be no quarrel with his associated thought: "Rising wages and rising standards of living, based on increasing productivity and a fair distribution of income is the American way." BUT—rising wages and subsidies gained by pressure of organized groups have served to benefit only minorities, insofar as living standards are concerned, while the majority of Americans have been penalized by resultant higher prices of commodities essential to comfortable living.

Accord with the idea that wages should keep pace with rising costs, in order to maintain a fair balance, must include contention that commensurate increases in income should extend to all workers in essential employment, many of whom are now hardpressed to meet the costs of such bare essentials as food, clothing and fuel.

Whatever else was directed to the attention of Congress by President Truman in his personally delivered message yesterday, it is the catastrophic potentialities of runaway inflation that loom largest in the public mind as the obvious weakness of the President's control proposals is recognized.

Spotlight On U. S. Red Leaders

THE NATION will watch with interest the outcome of criminal charges brought by the government against 12 Communist party leaders.

In the indictment, the government charges that the accused men, including Gus Hall of Cleveland, hold membership in the Communist party, "knowing well that said Communist party was and is a society or assembly of persons teaching the overthrow of the United States by force and violence."

If the trial of the red leaders in America brings out the background of the accused men, it will in all likelihood trace the activities of Hall, Ohio party chairman, back through the time in 1937 when, it has since been charged before the Dies committee, Hall directed the bloody "Little Steel" strike in Warren. In connection with that strike, the Dies committee was told in 1938, Hall usurped authority of the police, stopped the U. S. mails and was linked to the operation of dynamite squads.

Hall subsequently pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing explosives in Warren at the time of the strike and was fined $500 and costs. It is of particular interest in Mansfield that at the time of that trial a little over 10 years ago, the lawyer who defended Hall was Edward Lamb of Toledo, then striving to build himself up as a labor attorney and "protector of civil liberties." It was the same Lamb who subsequently acquired radio interests in Toledo and publishing interests in Erie, Pa. It was the same Lamb who last May was described in Congress as a "man saturated and drenched in communist writings, associations and affiliations." It was the same Lamb who, through some unexplained power, was able to procure from the Federal Communications commission five radio broadcasting licenses in a period of two weeks.

Mansfield's interest in the outcome of the communist indictments will be increased by the fact that Lamb, the man who defended in court one of the 12 indicted as red leaders in U. S., had obtained a radio license for operation in Mansfield, although he later surrendered it after his record was made known through columns of this newspaper.

Cleveland Bribe-Taker Convicted

A GLARING example of opportunities of law enforcement officials to establish a profitable hookup with underworld characters is seen in the conviction of a former Cleveland police lieutenant on charges of accepting $80,000 in bribes from policy and numbers racketeers.

One of the worst phases of commercialized gambling is the extent to which it places temptation, in the form of bribes, before persons who may be able to perform routine duties in a satisfactory way but who lack the strength of character to resist the lure of "easy money" placed in their way by gambling interests that must have "protection" in order to carry on illegal operations.

This accounts for the sometimes unjustified suspicion that quite innocent persons in official capacities are the recipients of bribes when they ignore open violation of law.

The Cleveland episode may have an awakening effect in some other Ohio cities, as the availability of bribe money for "protection" purposes is not peculiar to any one section of the state.

Sweden Develops Housing Plan

THE SWEDES, noted for their practical and effective approach to national problems, are dealing with housing, which has been troublesome there as in other countries.

They have developed a savings and building society of huge size, which is building about a tenth of all housing now being constructed in Sweden. The specialty of the society is the construction of apartment units on a tenant-ownership plan which bears some resemblance to such methods in the United States. In financing, however, there is little similarity.

The Swedish society arranges loans for 70 per cent of the cost with private banking institutions, and gets another 25 per cent in direct government loans, leaving only five per cent which the tenant-owner must pay down. The society handles all transactions and will even include furniture in the finished apartments. The interest rate is three and a half per cent for not more than a tenth of the cost, three per cent for the remainder.

What Some Other People Are Saying

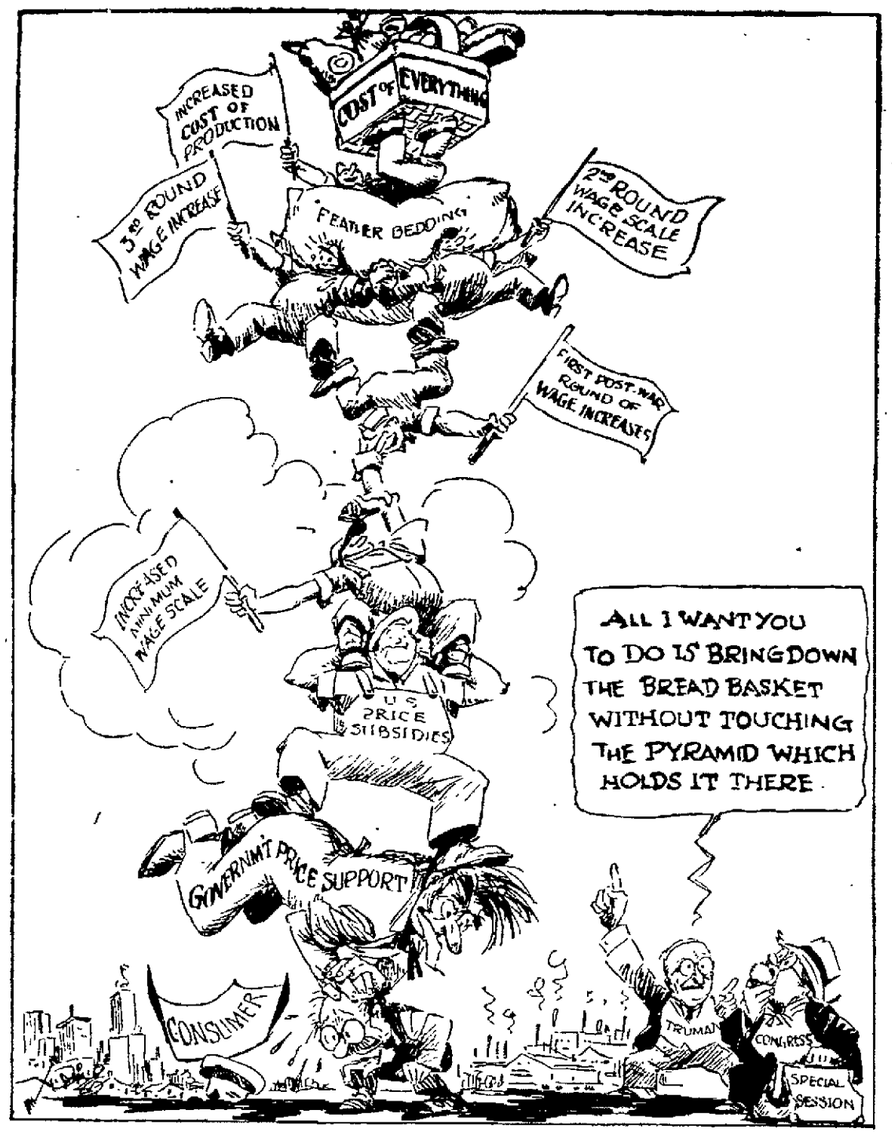

REP. BENDER (R-O): "The extra session of Congress is nothing but a continuation of the Democratic national convention."

* * *

WILLIAM GREEN, president of the American Federation of Labor: "President Truman has put Congress on the spot and it must act or answer to the people in November. . . . There is no hope Congress will redeem itself and correct its past mistakes."

* * *

SEN. TOBEY (R-NH): "It is the prime duty of those of us who represent the people to explore all potential ways and means to reduce prices. We're going to tackle housing, too."

The President's Message to Congress.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Price Increases Tend to Help Truman

IF, as Democrats and Wallaceites assert, Dewey and other Republicans are puppets of big business, the people who allegedly pull the strings have strange ways of helping their alleged creatures.

The steel and motor people have announced price increases just as Truman renews his fight with Congress. This will make it harder for Republicans to resist the President's demands, although they can scarcely yield to them.

The fact that these price increases are announced at this time provides an excellent answer to the demagogic claim that big business owns the Republican party.

A careful consideration of the circumstances that caused such a rise shows how little business can do to control political processes and also how little a party out of power can do to control business policy.

Business operates in a sphere and under rules which almost entirely forbid a company to base its decisions upon political considerations.

In the first place, there is sharp competition in steel and still sharper rivalry in motors. A single company cannot afford to hold the line alone, either in economic or political affairs.

General Motors tried something like that in the famous 100-day strike two and a half years ago. But despite its strong stand, the tide of price and wage increases has swept on.

Difference In Thinking.

MOREOVER, the factors involved in the market are so complex that no extraneous objective, however desired by leaders of a company or industry, can control economic decisions. Raw materials must be bought, contracts must be fulfilled, and production must be maintained. Stockholders must be protected, and customer good will must be held.

It should be added also that, even though the leaders of a business may be loyal party members, they are not and cannot be politically minded. Businessmen usually are inept in the devious ways of politics. The words they use, the statistics they depend on and the standards of conduct they follow differ from those used in politics.

But while business practice can have little direct influence on politics, a political government can certainly influence business. The fact is that the Truman administration has stimulated much of the inflation that made these price rises inevitable.

Real relief from an inflationary policy in government cannot be provided by the Republican party until it gains control of the presidency. That is the difficulty now faced by the Republican leaders in Congress.

They can, however, expect natural forces to help in the field of agricultural prices. Consumer resistance is already having its effect upon butter and meat prices. There are excellent reasons for believing that meat prices will be lower in the critical political month of October. Therefore, it will be safe for Congress to refuse to enact price control or the rationing of food now.

Republicans can also carefully scrutinize and criticize the purchasing and shipping of food abroad. While the ECA is rapidly stepping up its program of food shipments, the food picture in western Europe is growing brighter every week. England has given up bread rationing, and Switzerland has dropped all rationing. Other countries will follow.

Thus, while the Republicans face embarrassment by rising manufacturing costs, they can safely anticipate some relief in food prices. And it is the cost of food that has the most direct influence on votes.

Viewing the National Scene

Protests Reflect Fear

By THOMAS L. STOKES

THE THREE-DAY national convention and ceremonies here attending the formal birth of Henry A. Wallace's Progressive party carried a deep under-tone of tragedy, like the throbbing minor theme of a great orchestra, despite the excited surface gaiety and enthusiasm generated by its preponderantly youthful chorus.

These people gathered from all over the country, many coming by day coach and some by hitchhiking. They were suffering from a persecution complex that provoked them to strike out bitterly in every direction.

This, of itself was an indictment of some aspects of our society and civilization of which our two great major parties must take heed, for the cry of the persecuted and downtrodden that went up here was an indictment of them and their manifest inadequacies of the moment.

Here was raised again, as through the centuries, the mourning of Israel and of Rachel weeping for her children.

Here were raised the protests of those who are sensitive to the uncertainties of this curious post-war age when there is no peace; of war veterans and those who might again become war veterans and of their parents against the drift toward another war; of writers and artists who are fearful of the shackles being imposed on freedom of the mind and the spirit; of atomic scientists who are constantly conscious of the monster they created and harried by the worry that unthinking or willful men may let it loose upon the world; of young people and old people who are afraid for their own security in an economy bolstered up paradoxically by expenditures for rebuilding the places laid waste by the last war and production of armaments for another possible war, flimsy foundations.

* * *

In Role of Messiah.

IT WAS all a mirror of the seen and unseen and the feared tragedies of this age. In the proposed remedies in its platform, the Progressive party, reflected all this, and in the radical nature of some of them—radical for our time—it confessed what Henry Wallace, himself, intimated—that this party is ahead of its time.

The Progressive party convention was the most spirited and spontaneous of the three national political conventions in this city this year. It also was the best disciplined.

But anybody who thinks that there was anything mechanical about the enthusiasm is being misled, as can be attested by a witness of the wild scenes in convention hall and the madcap throng that packed about Henry Wallace's automobile as it threaded its way out of Shibe park after the acceptance ceremonies there, scrambling to grasp his hand in a frenzy reminiscent of that seen in similar demonstrations for the late Franklin D. Roosevelt at the peak of his career.

Perhaps the real tragedy, for those seeking, searching people and for their groping messiah, who seems caught up in a spell of hypnotism, is the attempt by a hard and shrewd group, including communists, to manipulate this movement for purposes of their own, with no conscience about using explosive issues to divide the nation in a precarious time, or stirring up trouble for trouble's sake.

And for this the major parties must take part of the blame by leaving undone during recent years some of the essential things that should have been done, and by being wary and political and diplomatic when boldness was required and a quest sought for new ways in a new age.

For this Henry Wallace's third party, like other third parties through our history, will provide an irritant to make the two major parties seek new and bold solutions of our problems.

That it already is having this effect was demonstrated to a degree by the platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties adopted at their own conventions, and likewise by the new aggressive tack of President Truman, leader of the party that will obviously suffer most from the new Progressive party, in pointing out the derelictions of the 80th Congress to which his party also contributed and which he is now asking Congress to repair in its special session.

Timely Editorial

Building Foundations.

The League of Women Voters has a reputation for its non-political interest in public affairs. It is one of the few such disinterested and high-minded organizations in existence. We know of no counterpart which exists among the male half of the population.

The league's latest project is a series of six weekly meetings, open to the public, on the theme, "Know Your United Nations."

Too few persons are familiar with the operations of the UN, which is the world's chief hope for building lasting peace. In the last analysis, the United Nations can't succeed unless the peoples of the world want it to.

The League of Women Voters, within the scope of its influence, is doing what it can to strengthen the UN's foundations. It would be a fine thing if many other organizations would do likewise.—Akron Beacon Journal.

U. S. Feuds Feed Russian Propaganda

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A lot of my southern friends have been telling me I should be awfully careful how I discuss the current political rebellion below the Mason-Dixon line. Undoubtedly they are right.

But, since so many people are already sore because of my nose-poking into all sorts of things, from the high cost of ambassadorships to Secretary of the Treasury Snyder's bibulousness at the President's birthday dinner, I suppose it won't hurt to get a few more people sore. So here goes.

One thing I can't help thinking about the civil-rights row is that the boy who is getting most satisfaction out of it all is Joe Stalin.

He and his pals in the Kremlin must be licking their chops—and pumping stuff out over the Moscow radio every day about how Americans are feuding and name-calling over civil rights.

I also can't help thinking that a time when we are very much on the spot in Berlin is a time when we ought to be preserving a reasonably united front back home.

* * *

What Russians Forget.

THE RUSSIANS, of course, don't know — or care — that all things are relative and that we've made a lot of progress in this country. It was only as recently as the 1919-20 post-war period that a horrible massacre of Negroes occurred in East St. Louis, while disgraceful race riots took place even in the nation's capital. The present post-war period has been largely free from such violence.

And on the same night Birmingham was staging its rebellion, Satchell Paige, Negro pitcher for the Cleveland Indians, pitched against the Washington Senators in the nation's capital and a white batter who tried to unnerve him was booed.

I remember also the great furor created when Oscar De Priest, Republican Negro congressman, was invited to a White House tea in the Hoover administration. The Republicans were supposed to be the champions of the Negro, but so many of them protested and Mr. Hoover got so worried, that Congressman De Priest discreetly stayed away.

In recent Democratic administrations, two Negroes have served consistently in Congress, both Democrats; and Rep. Dawson of Chicago has informed me that his colleagues from the South have treated him with respect and courtesy. There has been no protest when Negro congressmen were invited to recent White House receptions.

And today in Georgia, a Negro is running for the U. S. Senate against Senator Dick Russell and is free to campaign where he pleases throughout the state.

These are things the Soviet propagandists will not mention.

* * *

South's Real Leaders.

THEY also will not mention—and a lot of people have forgotten—that Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the man now leading the Dixiecrat revolt, is the same Governor Thurmond who got a lot of his own southern white friends boiling mad when he insisted on trying some taxi-drivers for lynching a Negro near Greenville, S. C.

Local sentiment was violently against Governor Thurmond, but he insisted that the men charged with lynching be prosecuted — which they were.

There are a lot of southerners honestly working for fair play in the South. Only they don't like to have reforms rammed down their throats by outsiders.

Ellis Arnall, when governor of Georgia, had no trouble getting Georgia to abolish the poll tax. Most Georgians took pride in this, though currently a lot of them have their backs up and if the poll-tax issue came along today they would vote the other way.

What northerners don't always realize is that the Talmadges, the Rankins and the Bilbos aren't really typical of the South, and that there are a lot of fine southerners who don't at all share their views.

Anyway, it seems to me we should all work a little harder on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line at understanding each other.

* * *

Wiping Out Old "Line."

THE other day I met a man who has been doing his part at better understanding between the North and the South — a gentleman named Champ Pickens, of Montgomery, Ala., who has organized the Blue and Grey association.

He is trying to get folks who followed the Confederate grey during the Civil war, and those who followed the Federal blue to get together at least once a year at a football game between the all-star team of the North and the all-star team of the South. He stages the game at Montgomery, cradle of the Confederacy, and as many northern folks as possible are invited down to see the game.

Perhaps it might be a good idea for us to stage a lot of things like this—and to think a little bit more about our own internal problems.

We have been giving a lot of thought to friendship abroad—which cannot be neglected—but we must also work at friendship at home—which is equally important.

It might be a fine idea for the Rotary clubs, the Kiwanis and Lions clubs, and the Junior Chambers of Commerce which all do such a good job of promoting worth-while community enterprises, to take up the problem of better understanding between the North and South. If some of the southern clubs invited northern clubs down to their cities, and vice versa, a lot of solid friendship might result.

It may seem foolish to say that we need more understanding right here in our own country, but the fact is that we do.

When Nerves Are Taut

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Wave after wave of jittery-nerved, short-tempered, neck-jerking tension seems to be walking abroad on Capitol Hill, and any moment you expect to hear issuing from the ramparts a roar reminiscent of that day in Normandy when the colonel hollered:

"Man the hedgerows! It's a counter-attack if I ever saw one!"

By the foregoing allusion, surviving veterans of a certain infantry regiment will comprehend fully the current temper on Capitol Hill, and nostalgia may even reach out and rap the knuckles of a handful of newspapermen to whom the colonel's battle-cry became a byword of bar and bistro during the recent disturbance.

There was little actual attacking during those hedgerow periods. Mostly the mood of the moment was to keep alert against possile counter-attacks. And while the rests at first were welcome, after a while a great unease seemed to stalk the combatline and ears long since impervious to the thunder of war became sensitive to the slightest crack of a twig beyond the hedgerow. And any foxhole you were in seemed certain to be the focal point of the next counter-attack.

It was during such a nerve-tautened time of comparative quiet that a colonel was sent forward from division to take over a regiment's command, recently vacated by a well-placed German mortar.

All told, the colonel probably was a very ordinary man. No fire-eating career soldier, he definitely was not lusting for the glory of combat. Moreover, although an extremely efficient division administrative officer, he was totally unacquainted with life on the actual combatline — and middle-age must have seemed to him a singularly inappropriate time to start learning.

But this was war, and he was needed, and the colonel was game. So forwad he went, pausing only for the precaution of fortifying his future morale with a case or two of calvados.

* * *

Multiplied Vision

THE COLONEL, new at his command, nipped with caution — until that day when duty demanded he go up to look over a couple of key rifle platoon positions.

It was a nerve-wracking trip, and by the time he had crawled up to the forward observation post to peer through the hedgerow, the colonel's "emergency canteen" was almost empty and the colonel, to complete the idiom, was nearly full.

At that precise moment, a sad-sack-looking German soldier — probably a company runner — made a quick dash across a distant open space, a not uncommon occurrence during those periods but one which rarely resulted in any outburst of firing.

Others, also looking through the hedgerow, subsequently testified that there was only one bedraggled German without weapons. History does not record how many the colonel saw, or how heavily they seemed to be armed.

All that is known is that a frenzied flurry of wild firing which confused and frightened everybody on both sides was precipitated when he reared back from the hedgerow and roared in a voice that rolled across the quiet Normandy countryside:

"Man the hedgerows! It's a counter-attack if I ever saw one!"

Here we gently draw the curtain—except to add that, in the somewhat nasty tension on Capitol Hill today, one lone man is very likely to look like a whole political counter-attack."

Farmer's Diary

Mother Stands Guard

By CALVIN A. BYERS

LAST WEEK, one morning, I stepped into the box stall where the big black brood sow lay with seven pigs hard upon her. Completely relaxed, she smiled with pride and vain contentment while the sucklings tumbled over each other and ranged themselves in a sleek nuzzling row.

I had brought a pail of spring water, into which I had stirred some meal. When I opened the door to the stall, the sow got up, and another shoat darted inside and waited at the trough greedily. I hurried to chase the intruder out, and in so doing, ran between the sow and her pile of squirming off-spring.

She took her nose out of the trough, and with open mouth, ran at me, giving me a hard push with her snout, so that I hit the distant wall. Recovering just in time, I kicked hard at her ringed nose and without argument she went back to the trough again. Also without argument, I rubbed my bruised right leg, and got out of there.

* * *

ONCE, in Mt. Ranier Park, I saw a bear become enraged when a thoughtless tourist posed for a picture between the mother bear and her cub. A ranger who knew the animal might be dangerous, pulled up his rifle and aimed it at the bear, while the young lady finished the snapshot. Soon the tense moment passed, and the bear with the cub, ate cube sugar thrown to her as a pacifier.

IT IS an unwritten law of nature that nothing should interfere between a mother and her young. A young heifer will fight for her calf with hoof and horns; a nanny-goat will put up a battle; a sheep will pucker its lip and stamp its forefeet in angry emphasis; a hen that steals her nest and brings off a brood, diligently feeds and protects her family; a robin pecked viciously at my hand, when I took hold of the limb on which her nest rested, with four young.

And that natural show of spunk is such an admirable thing that it commands the respect of all of us. A parent that will not defend his family is unworthy of parenthood.

Federal Trade Commission Urges Patent Law Revision

2 Electric Firms Hit In Report

Westinghouse, GE Both Named

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Federal Trade commssion Tuesday proposed to Congress that it revise American patent laws to make it impossible for either American or foreign companies to exercise "undue control" over patents.

The FTC cited the General Electric company and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in making its report. It said that both companies took the initiative "in forming and attempting to form international cartels to include British, German and other companies."

The commission said that General Electric and Westinghouse representatives negotiated in 1930 an international electric equipment cartel arrangement with British, German and Swiss electrical manufacturers.

It said the effect of these patent agreements was to eliminate direct foreign competition in the United States. The possibility that other American manufacturers could obtain the right to use important foreign patents and trade secrets also was forestalled, the commission said.

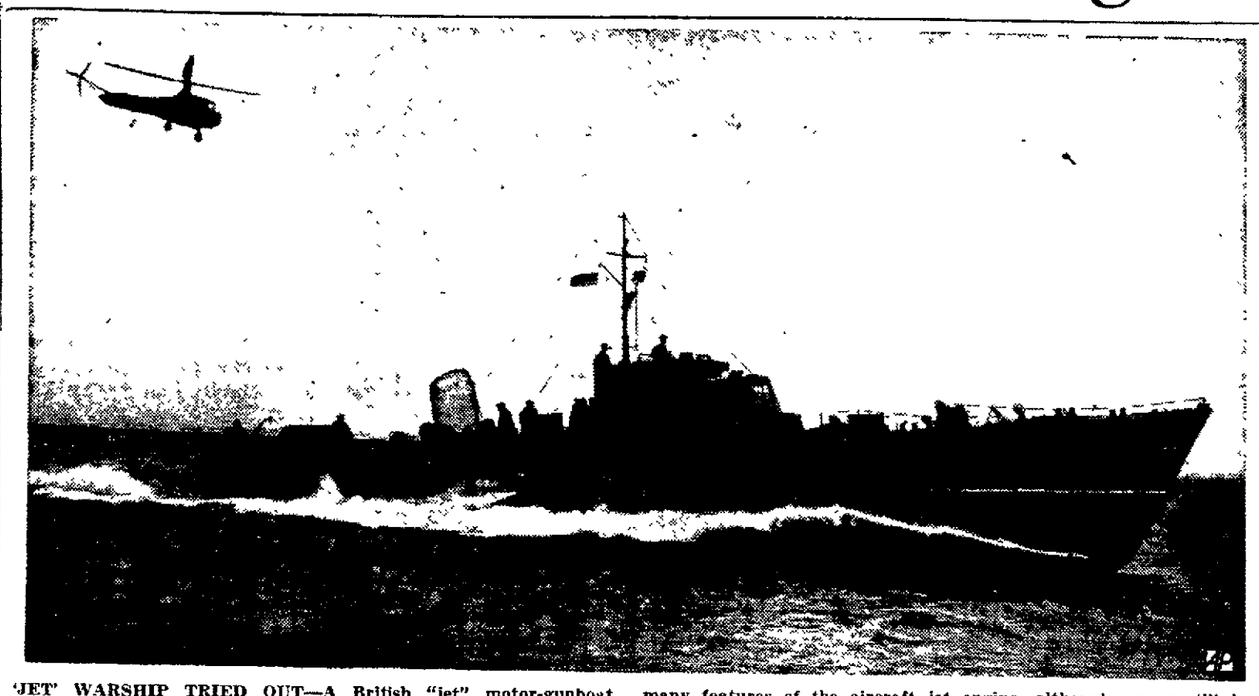

"The extent to which the General Electric company and Westinghouse company owe their present positions to keeping others from using foreign patents and experience is most difficult to measure." the commission said.

"It is certain, however, that they have made their patent exchange contracts a source of direct income in the form of royalties and, in addition, have protected their own positions in the American market by limiting the use of American rights under foreign patents and experience of many of the largest and strongest foreign companies to themselves and other American companies acting as their licensees."

Plant Plans Liquidation

NEWARK —(AP)— Following a breakdown of negotiations between the Pharis Tire and Rubber company and Local 21 of the CIO United Rubber Workers Union, a company spokesman said today liquidation of the plant seemed a certainty.

He said the company and union had met in a last-minute effort to settle a wage dispute which has kept the plant closed since May 1.

The firm's board of directors voted at a meeting July 15 to postpone liquidation of the Newark plant for two weeks, pending further discussions with the union.

A final company offer was rejected by a vote of 600-2 at an employes' meeting Tuesday night.

N. D. Vermilion, a union field representative, said the company's proposals would have reduced wages from 10 to 30 per cent and given the company "the sole right to set wage rates and discharge anyone not meeting production standards set by the company."

Vermilion said the latter provision would mean future wage reductions and undermine seniority in the plant."

Scientists Study Lightning Atop Empire State Building

NEW YORK —(UP)— A new expedition began today—this one 1,250 feet up in the air atop the Empire State building.

Goal of the scientists is to learn about lightning, why it strikes, when and how hard. From such knowledge, man may be able some day to control the effects of lightning.

Heading the expedition was Julius H Hagenguth, engineer in charge of the General Electric high-voltage laboratory, Pittsfield, Mass. He was assisted by John Alger, 20-year-old student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Work in lightning study began atop the Empire State building in 1935, and since then it has been proved many times that lightning does strike twice in the same place. In fact, the building was struck as many as 12 times during one storm, and as many as 48 times during one summer.

Numerous prices of equipment, including an "electronic watchman," were taken to the top of the building The "watchman" will be on duty all the time. An electronic device, it automatically will turn on all recording equipment as storms approach the city or as storm fields form around the building.

Thus, the scientists will not have to be on hand for the research to start.

In addition to the equipment at Empire State building, specially-built cameras are being installed on nearby buildings. These, too, will go into action as the "watchman" turns on the controls.

Two of the cameras, located on a building at 521 Fifth avenue, will take up to 20 photographs with a single loading of film. A third camera, located on a hotel, will take movies of lightning in action as it strikes the top of Empire State.

Such protographs will be used to study the physical characteristics of lightning. Unlike Benjamin Franklin who used a key and a kite string, these 20th century scientists have no worry about being struck.

Pay Last Tribute To Movie Pioneer

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Film colony members assembled at Masonic Temple Tuesday to pay a last tribute to one of Hollywood's most famous—David Wark Griffith.

Work stopped at all major studios for three minutes as the personnel, from humble grip to top producers, paid silent tribute to the man who created "The Birth of a Nation" and many another outstanding motion picture. Griffith, 73, died of a cerebral hemorrhage last Friday.

Bills Propose 7-Cent Nickel

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Legislation was introduced in the House Tuesday to give the country a "seven-cent nickel" as an anti-inflation weapon.

Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) and Rep. Busbey (R-Ill.) Filed companion bills which would provide for the coining of a seven-cent piece.

Busbey explained:

"My measure is intended as an anti-inflationary move to keep articles which formerly sold for five cents at a top price of seven cents rather than let them go to a dime."

City's Restaurants Cut Servings of Costly Beef

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Some Mansfield restaurants are refusing to buy the higher-priced cuts of beef because they know that their customers would refuse to pay the prices they would have to aks in order to make any profit

Not only are they passing up the choice cuts, but some are decreasing purchases of all meats in the hope that prices will come down in the face of a buyers' strike.

Instead of having enough meat in the cooler to last a week as was its former custom, one restaurant now buys from day to day. With its smaller supply of meat the restaurant must refuse to serve steaks and chops except at the regular lunch and dinner hours.

That old favorite, the hamburger, still sells for 20 cents at most restaurants despite the fact that the price of hamburger has risen from 40 cents to 58 cents a pound wholesale, restaurant managers said.

If there isn't a break in meat prices soon purchases will be further curtailed and other restaurants will probably join the ranks of those who are hoping that a buyers' strike will do the trick, managers predicted.

Mrs. C. E. Payne, Millsborough road, was hostess for the brunch held by the club at her home. The table was centered with a lovely floral arrangement of rose, white and orchid asters.

The meeting was opened with the club prayer given by Mrs. W. B. Linn, president.

Each member answered roll call with some helpful hint to the other members. Mrs. Virgil Hartman told how to keep colors true in phlox. You have to pick off the little flowers when they go to seed. That will keep the colors true for the following year. The herb chairman, Mrs. Payne gave recipes for using chives. The butterfly bush was explained by Mrs. Vale Scouten Mrs. Linn, whose subject is state flowers, told about the flower of Maryland, the black eyed Susan.

Mrs. L. S. Barr gave the paper of the afternoon. It was on "Fragrant Shrubs." She told the members that the spring shrubs have an ethereal fragrance. The fragrance during the summer is rich and joyous. She warned the members against too much of the same kind of plant in the yard. "Too much continued fragrance is monotonous. Fragrance is something to come upon." Mrs. Barr spoke on the Rosemary and Spice Bush and several other shrubs. She gave in length the legends about them that has come down through the years.

Mrs. Linn presided over the short business meeting.

The next meeting will be a luncheon, at which time Mrs. Virgil Hartman will be hostess at the Stevenson home in Shiloh, August 10.

MANHATTAN NIGHTS—

Paul Hartman, who quit the University of California during his freshman year to elope with Grace, was always determined that his own son would get a college degree. The boy had just entered a midwestern institute of higher learning when the Army grabbed him and shipped him into field-artillery action against the Nazis in Africa and Italy. When surrender came and young Ted climbed back into civvies, his dad had it all set for him to enter Columbia.

"But I want to marry Margaret Jo Laird," complained Ted

"College first," proclaimed the older Hartman.

Ted complied and signed up for all the writing courses in the book Then he ignored them to court his best gal. One night Paul put his foot down.

"You can't go out until you finish that one-act sketch for the John Golden contest," he decreed.

"If you insist," said Ted and hammered dialogue out of his typewriter for the next three hours. Then he threw the manuscript to his father and dashed off to the movies with his gal. When he returned at 2 a. m., his pop was still up and looked very excited.

"I want you to write five more like this! Paul shouted

"Just for old John Golden?" asked Ted.

"Golden, nothing! This is for Paul and Grace Hartman!" Paul replied, waving the manuscript of the trailer sketch.

And that's how "Angel in the Wings" was born. P. S.—Ted quit Columbia the following week, married Margaret Jo Laird the following June and has been living on his royalties for a year now.

Years ago when the Duke of Windsor was the Prince of Wales, he found himself at an American party being bored to distraction by the tongue-wagging proclivities of an important society matron. It was at this moment that maestro Meyer Davis passed by on the way to his bandstand. The handsome Prince stopped him and asked naively "Is it time for my lesson now?" Puzzled, Davis agreed that it was and thus it came about that Edward sat in as drummer boy with the Meyer Davis band.

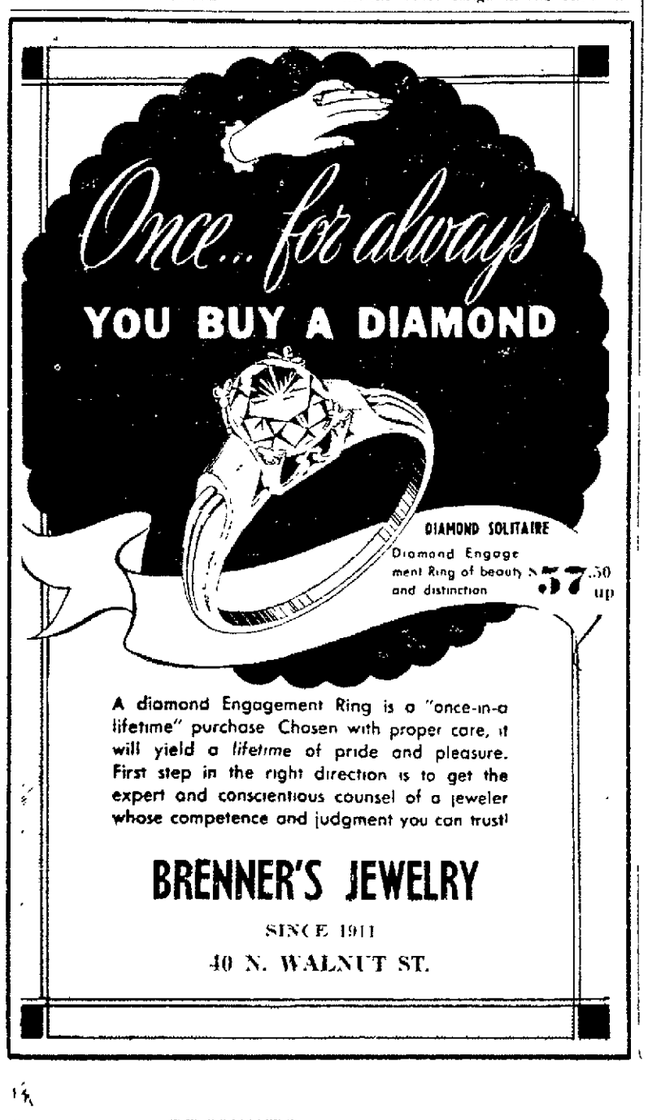

Years passed, the Prince became King of England, the King abdicates, wars come and go, and now the Duke of Windsor finds himself at Robert Young's party at the Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs—once again being bored to distraction by an American matron. Suddenly a familiar voice rings in his ear: "I beg your pardon, but isn't it time for your lesson?" The Duke grins and breathes a sigh of relief. "So it is," he replied.

And that's how come the Duke of Windsor once more played drums with Meyer Davis's orchestra in White Sulphur Springs.

One night Heidt asked Frankie to hustle down to the Criterion Theatre to put in an appearance on the "Sunday Morning Swing Session." Carle turned to the band boy. "C'mon along. You got nothing better to do." As they walked into the theatre, a female trio was warbling.

Carle and the boy stood for a few minutes listening to the girls tear into their song "They're terrific. I'm gonna grab that act and manage those girls," snapped the band boys He did, too The band boy was Lou Levy—and the girls? The Andrews Sisters.

Swedish Couple Visit City To Study Industry's Goods

By ANN SCHOENMAN

ALTHOUGH they may have had a controversy over the length of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Sven Meiton of Stockholm, Sweden, are now at an agreement that it has been two and a half years of time that they have been wed. When asked about the amount of years they have been married, Mr. and Mrs. Meiton exchanged glances and then Mrs. Meiton gave a very definite answer of "Two and a half years."

Mr. and Mrs. Meiton arrived in Mansfield Friday from Boston, after leaving the ship that brought them from their homeland- Sweden, to America Thursday. They are here to study the conditions and the manner of work at the Ohio Brass company. The agent in Stockholm, A. B. Erbings-Maskinaffar, sent them here to learn about the goods manufactured at the Ohio Brass.

They will be here in Mansfield for three weeks and then travel through the mid-west and eastern states. After such a trip it will be home again by way of London, Paris, Cologne, and Stockholm to their 1½-year-old son, Gustav, whom they left in Sweden with Mrs. Meiton's parents.

Mrs. Meiton met her husband during the war while they both were employed as electrical engineers at the Royal Board of Waterfalls.

Now, though, the blue-eyed, red-haired lady is a housewife in Sweden and Mr. Meiton is in commercial saleswork with the Ohio Brass agent in Stockholm. Mrs. Meiton is kept quite busy at home taking care of her son and housework, since it is impossible to get help of any kind there.

The only place they can really let loose and feel completely at home is with E. A. Larson, transportation engineer at the Ohio Brass. Mr. Larson and Mrs Meiton's father attended school together in Sweden. While they are with this fellow "Swede," they speak Swedish and forget the "difficult English."

The young couple feels that English is a very difficult language to acquire. Mr. Meiton studied English ten years ago in school and has never had any use for it before now. While in school he had six years of training. Never did he realize when he was studying that some day it would be of great value to him.

The principal thing that Mr. and Mrs. Meiton have noticed about America is the fact that there are so many different races represented here.

"In Sweden you find only one. Swedish, but in America you find all kinds," is the remark made by Mrs. Meiton.

When asked about shopping, Mrs. Meiton replied, "First I look, then I see, then I shop. I'm in no hurry." So far she has not seen what she wants.

One of the patimes she wants to be sure and get in while in Mansfield is to go golfing. Mrs. Meiton is an ardent golf fan.

Swimming is second on her sports list. She wishes very much to visit Mansfield pools and nearby lakes while they are in town.

Last Saturday the visiting guests were present at the Westbrook Country club dance. They agreed that it was a fine dance, but two things were missing.

Mrs. Meiton said, "I am very fond of walzing, and they didn't have one." At this time Mr. Meiton also added, "They didn't have the 'Hambo' either. 'Hambo,' that is a Swedish folk dance."

During their short stay here, Mrs. Meiton wishes to learn the social life of our city while her husband busies himself with the technical work.

Both will have something to take back from Mansfield to their home across the sea.

Nursing the Convalescent

By ELEANOR ROSS

Lots of time, with nothing to do but relax and sleep, sounds delightful to busy folk rushing around, but not to a convalescing patient. Which demonstrates that everything is a matter of circumstances. The convalescent can hardly wait to get up and join the busy throng again. And, the better a convalescent is nursed, the sooner he or she will be back to normalcy.

The thing to do is to make the patient as comfortable as possible and to keep him or her cheerful. The bed must be as comfortable as possible and it must be made and constantly re-made with care. Sheets should be kept fresh and spotless; bedclothes must be kept free from being twisted and wrinkled; pillows must be fluffed up and adjusted.

ATTRACTIVE ROOM

A clean and attractive room helps the morale of the patient immensely. Because so much time is spent looking around the room, every little thing is of interest. Plants growing in attractive pottery on the window sill, flowers artistically arranged, favorite pictures or photographs hung in groups on the wall facing the bed, all help to break the monotony. A bulletin board onto which one tacks get-well cards, amusing cartoons and jokes, with the material constantly changed, is bound to be a good morale-raiser.

Meals, of course, are big events in the day, and tempting food, gracefully arranged and nicely served, will make them more so, and hurry along the process of recovery. A flower in a bud vase, some favorite or unusual food, or a novel way of serving the food, are all welcome. Fruit juice, a dish of ice cream or other light refreshments are equally welcome in the long, sometimes seemingly interminable stretches of the morning or afternoon and the evening hours.

If permitted by the doctor, friends should be encouraged to visit the patient.

MR. AND MRS. MEITON

Ida Jean Kain

YOUR FIGURE, MADAME

AS SUMMER simmers on, you thin girls are quite likely to lose your appetite . . . and not get it back again until Thanksgiving. You're just too hot and tired to bother about eating. So you get droopier and wearier and feel less inclined to eat—and the pounds start melting off.

You don't have to be the loser this summer. If you'll put your mind to it, you can pick up curves despite the heat wave. Your problem is partly malnutrition—you can eat to beat the heat.

That fickle appetite of yours has to be handled with care. Give it a boost by stepping up your intake of Vitamin B-one, scientifically termed thiamin. Ask your doctor about taking 5 or 10 milligrams of thiamin a day. In addition to stimulating appetite, it feeds the nerves and promotes better digestion.

You may be skeptical, but your appetite would thrive on more food. Haven't you noticed how much more you eat during vacation—and how much more you feel like eating? Of course the feeling is probably the cause here, but it's just as sure to be an effect. Eating is a sure way to build a healthy desire for food, and eating can be largely habit. So this summer don't let that vacation appetite slip away as soon as you're back on the job. Encourage it.

If you ate a good breakfast at the seashore or in the mountains, why slip back into the old black-coffee-and-toast routine? Get up ahead of the alarm clock—hot weather isn't conducive to late sleeping anyhow—and take time to eat a good breakfast every day.

What's on the menu? All sorts of tempting things: crispy, ready-to-eat cereal with fresh peaches or berries, served with milk and cream . . . two slices of hot buttered toast, perhaps with honey . . . and a glass of milk, or coffee. Alternate days have bacon and eggs instead of cereal, and toast different kinds of bread—try pumpernickel, raisin, and the baker's special "homemade" variety. A good breakfast helps anyone stand up to the heat of the day, because it furnishes energy.

Switch to a citrus fruit juice for the between-meal pickup. Since there's a connection between lack of Vitamin C and heat exhaustion, there's nothing better in hot weather than a big glass of orange juice or grapefruit juice. Tomato juice is refreshing, too.

If possible eat lunch at the same time every day. Going beyond the usual hour can dull your appetite and make you indifferent to food.

After work, if you don't feel like eating, go for a swim. A dip in a cool pool, and you'll be all set for a leisurely dinner . . . just the way you were on vacation.

It's a promise—three good, regular meals a day this summer will boost both your spirits and your weight.

Horoscope

For Thursday, July 29

According to an adverse solar lunar aspect it must be advisable to marshal all the faculties, ingenuity and skills in an effort to bolster up lagging or menaced conditions. A sudden slip either in plans, production or other twist of chance or tactics, might alienate interest or cooperation from high places. Those at the top may be easily discouraged or unimpressed, unless exceptional merit or ingenuity hold their sustained support

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, may have opportunity for demonstration of their skills, endurance, and cleverness under exceptional stress or unforeseen maneuvers coming from those whose sustained support and fidelity are vital to constructive or experimental ventures. If such reversals threaten, it may be profitable to maintain composure, hold to practical foundations, carry on with confidence and assurance. Other supporters may materialize and from unlooked-for quarters.

A child born on this day should be encouraged to hold its course, with confidence and faith in its own ingenuity and skills, if cooperation from higher-ups is to be held.

With folks going on picnics on no more than a moment's notice it's a good idea to keep a shelf ready with all sorts of picnic pick-up foods. The new California green olives are ideal because their sharp tangy piquant flavor is a perfect accent for picnic sandwiches and the like.

Frosty Drinks Are Pleasing

A tall frosted glass containing a pleasing, refreshing drink is one of the joys of summer. It is a beautiful sight, or it can be, if properly garnished and presented.

To get down to cases, run a ripe fresh pineapple through the food grinder. Let the pulp stand for half an hour or so with the juice of three or four lemons and 6 tbsp. honey. Place mixture in a punch bowl with ice and pour over it a quart of charged water.

For a regular party concoction, run 8 oz. preserved Canton ginger (now available again) through the food grinder. Mix with it a quart of water and a cup of sugar. Boil 20 min.; let cool a bit, then pour in ½ c. each of orange juice and lemon juice. Strain, chill, serve in tumblers of shaved ice with straws.

Frosted coffee sweetened with honey is sheer summer solace. To add something different to plain iced coffee, use ½ tbsp. more coffee to each cup and spike it up by crushing a cardamon seed and scattering it over the top. To do the honors by iced tea: Just add a pinch of ginger with crushed cardamon seed, for an exotic, tasty accent. Or cook and cool some cloves and cinnamon with lemon to add to the tea. When serving iced tea, or indeed, almost any iced drink, frost the rim with powdered sugar. Squeeze juice from half a lemon and run the peel around the top of the glass to moisten the inside and outside of the rim. Then turn the glass down into a saucer of powdered sugar.

One Dress Travel Wardrobe

Gale Robbins, who is currently seen in RKO Radio's "Race Street", believes in traveling light. One bolero suit in a basic color, a collection of accessories, and a change of skirts can add up to an entire wardrobe.

She illustrates by taking a wide-skirted bolero suit, adding a bright silk blouse, wide straw hat, crushable gloves and classic pumps to achieve a smart afternoon ensemble. But a high-necked slipover sweater, jaunty straw bag and sports shoes strike another note.

Gale takes along a pair of pedal pushers, a pair of well tailored slacks, and a long full jersey skirt. A few halters in different colors can be worn with all three, and the bolero added for those occasions when she wishes a covered-shoulder look. The same halters, worn with the suit, give a change of color scheme.

She suggests a solid color for the basic suit, with unexpected shades to accent accessories, such as lime or deep orange with ivy green. Black or sand with slate grey. Try pink shades with deep red, or the various shades of brown. The purpose is to give the slim wardrobe an extensive scope, and such planning can be recommended not only for the traveler but for the woman whose activities are frequently greater than her wardrobe can conveniently cover.

Agreement On German Issue Vital

Action Would Alter Marshall's Strategy

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In diplomacy as in war there is no more difficult operation than that which Secretary Marshall is now facing—namely, to alter his strategical plan while deeply and dangerously engaged.

But it is evident that in order to stay in Berlin without going to war, he must resume four-power negotiations about Germany. This means that the three-power agreements which were signed in London at the beginning of June will have to be renegotiated with the Russians.

While this is a very considerable diplomatic success for Mr. Molotov, it is not nearly so complete as it will look if we persist in ignoring the Warsaw declaration of June 24 on Soviet and satellite policy about Germany.

The fact is that the Soviet position has been greatly modified since the meeting of the council of foreign ministers in London last autumn. A year ago Mr. Molotov was not talking about "the quick conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany" and "an end to the occupation regime."

He was talking about a long and indefinite occupation, and it was this determination of the Russians to stay in Germany which justified new administrative arrangements, though not the creation of a German state, in western Germany.

Therefore, in agreeing to resume four-power negotiations, we are not starting all over again where we left off when the previous negotiations became hopelessly deadlocked.

What we were trying to do then, and failing altogether, was to reach agreements by which the four powers could work together, governing Germany for many years to come.

AGREEMENT IMPOSSIBLE

No such agreement is possible. Four powers, even if all of them were populated with saints, could not collaborate to govern the Germans, or any other large nation, or even any small nation. Three powers could do it. Two powers could not.

The fundamental fact is that military government can only be temporary. It is of all political undertakings most subject to the law of diminishing returns.

What is not only conceivable but but necessary, perhaps even unavoidable, is that the four powers should agree on how to put an end to their effort to govern Germany. The problem is no longer how to collaborate.

That, we have learned, is an insoluble problem. The problem, therefore, is how to make a settlement which terminates military government and liquidates the occupation with the least danger to the security of Europe and of the world.

The heart of that problem is quite evidently what kind of German regime there is to be which takes over when the occupying powers leave.

Of the five proposals in the Warsaw declaration by all odds the most important and contentious is the third which calls for "the establishment . . . of a provisional democratic peace-loving government for the whole of Germany.'

For there is no prospect of the four powers agreeing on such a government. What would satisfy Mr. Molotov, we should regard as a German government certain to be captured by the Communists and to be oriented with the Soviet Union. What would satisfy us, the Russians and the eastern governments would regard as a Germany made a satellite of the West.

If, therefore, we resume negotiations with the idea that we must agree on a government for the whole of Germany, we shall again become hopelessly deadlocked.

But why, in all seriousness, must there be a government for the whole of Germany before we can agree on a German settlement which fixes the German frontiers, sets down the things which Germany is forbidden to do and the obligations which she must meet?

Meat Prices Recede From Record Peak

Declines Appear To Be Temporary

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — Wholesale meat and livestock prices declined at major markets Tuesday and some Chicago grocery chains cut meat prices.

Agriculture department officials said, however, that the price trend was still up and that current price declines appeared to be only temporary.

Wholesale meat prices fell as much as four cents a pound at New York, continuing a trend that started more than a week ago.

Spring lamb sold for 48 to 55 cents a pound, a drop of from two to four cents. Pork loins were three cents lower at 40 to 45 cents a pound. Beef sold for 53 to 59 cents a pound, veal for 44 to 50 cents a pound.

Lightweight hogs were 25 cents a hundred pounds lower at the principal cornbelt markets, despite small receipts. And other hogs were as much as 50 cents lower. Traders said increased consumer resistance was one of the factors influencing the trend.

In Chicago, the Jewel food stores announced meat price cuts of from six to 21 cents a pound. An official said the reductions were ordered following the sharp break in the wholesale market.

"This is due to consumer resistance to high prices," he said.

The Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and Kroger's also announced reductions in their meat prices at some points.

Appropriation For Dam Hit

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Rep. J Harry McGregor, (R-Ohio) demanded yesterday that a thorough investigation be made to determine the necessity for Hoover dam near Columbus, O., before actual work is begun.

The West Lafayette representative charged that Congress put the "cart before the horse" when it appropriated $600,000 for a start on the dam without first determining its necessity.

McGregor said the project may require the removal of the entire village of Galena in Delaware county, a part of his district. In addition, he claimed, the Delaware county tax duplic[illegible] creasing because so much of its area is [illegible] control projects.

Glattke Urged Prison Plan Two Years Ago

By MARGUERITE MILLER

More than two years ago, Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of Mansfield reformatory, took his plan for revamping the state's penal system straight to the Ohio Welfare board.

At a meeting held at the reformatory, attended by State Welfare Director Charles Sherwood, members of the post-war planning commission on penal problems, district court judges and newsmen, Glattke urged "recodifying of the state criminal laws.

The action, the superintendent explained, should be taken "so that when offenders are found guilty and sentenced to a state prison they go to a receiving center where they are classified by a board composed of a psychiatrist, a psychologist and a sociologist."

After classification at the center, according to Glattke's plan, the accused would then be directed to a unit or prison within the state which would have facilities for the correction of the screened convicts.

"The sentencing authority," Glattke said, "could not designate an institution for the accused under this plan. This power would be left to the classification board."

Result of the plan would be to separate the normal inmates from the psychopaths, the dullards, juvenile defectives, and borderline cases.

NEW PEN DISCUSSED

At the same meeting, Sherwood led the discussion on a possible new penitentiary for the state, leading to the suggestion that the Mansfield institution be converted into a correctional center for normal-mentality inmates.

"The old procedure of sentencing according to age and crime is out-worn," Glattke repeated today. "A psychopath is the same at 16 or 60."

The superintendent said that the reformatory accepts all violators from 16 to 30 years of age.

"It is believed," he continued, "that the Mansfield reformatory is the only institution in the country where juvenile delinquents are housed with felons."

Reds Defied In Berlin

Woman Mayor Stands Firm

BERLIN—(INS)—Berlin's plucky woman lord mayor demanded today that Soviet occupation authorities cease attempts to alter the city's administration single-handedly.

Frau Louise Schroeder invited Soviet Commandant Maj. Gen. Alexander Kotikov to consult her and the city council in the future before issuing unilateral orders which she cannot recognize.

Frau Schroeder adopted her firm stand after she was accorded the backing of the United States, supported by both Britain and France, against accepting orders dictated only by the Russians.

The woman mayor made known her position in rejecting an order by Kotikov dismissing Dr. Johannes Stumm from the Berlin police force.

Dr. Stumm was named police chief by the city council after Communist Paul Markgraf was suspended for failure to carry out council directives.

Frau Schroeder told Kotikov that her acceptance of the Soviet decree would be "a violation of my oath to administer Berlin under four-power authority."

Big Merchant Fleet Wanted By Canadians

OTTAWA —(U.P.)— J. V. Clyne, chairman of the Canadian Maritime commission, said today Canada was determined to develop a merchant fleet to compete with the nations of the world despite the fact that operating costs were exceeded only by U.S. ships.

Clyne said it cost a Canadian shipowner $780 a day to operate a 10,000-ton cargo vessel—the highest in the world except for U.S. owners who spend $960 a day to operate a similar craft. The cost for a British owner is $508 a day and for a Scandinavian $495.

High wages form a large part of the operating cost, Clyne said.

The crew of a 10,000-ton freighter averages $445 in daily wages for a U.S. line, $350 for a Canadian, $140 for British, $245 for Greece and $165 for Scandinavian. An ablebodied U.S. seaman gets $240 to $250 a month, a Canadian $200 and a seaman for the United Kingdom $110.

Ocean-Sailing Latvians Must Go to Ellis Isle

BOSTON—(U.P.)—Twenty-nine Latvian refugees from behind the Soviet iron curtain were told Tuesday they would be transferred to New York's Ellis Island pending final disposition of their cases.

Notification of their transfer by U. S. Immigration Commissioner Watson B. Miller at Washington brought an immediate protest from Rep. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), who now is on a visit in Berlin.

In a telegram to Miller, Kennedy said civic groups "and a legion of new-found friends . . . vigorously protest the department's intention of transferring them to Ellis Island."

"May I ask you to arrange for a hearing in your office in Washington where I can enter my personal objection to this transfer which will work a hardship," Kennedy said.

Miller had said in a telegram to Kennedy "it appears likely that they will have to be excluded from admission, in which event they will have the right to appeal."

"If they take appeals," Miller said, "the records of the hearings accorded to them will be forwarded to this office for review."

"At that time," he added, "careful consideration will be given to all of the factors involved."

Meanwhile, it was said the Latter-Day Pilgrims might appeal directly to President Truman.

Rev. Carl D. Selmer of the Jamaica Plains Lutheran church said he would write the appeal for the fugitives, held at the East Boston immigration station after a 43-day crossing of the Atlantic in a 64-foot ketch.

Rev. Selmer has been serving as an interpreter for the Latvians during immigration service hearings on their case. The refugees left a temporary haven in Sweden without visas or entry certificates for the United States.

Coast Guard sources incorrectly reported a Lithuanian, a Russian and two Swedes were among the group when their ketch made port at Provincetown Wednesday enroute here.

Commissioners OK Transfer of Funds

County commissioners yesterday authorized transfer of $600 from the general fund to the aid to the blind fund. They also authorized transfer of $50 from "other expenses" to "stationery and supplies" fund of the dog and kennel fund. The transfer was necessary to purchase application blanks for dog licenses, which have gone up in price.

Plans Ready For Opening Of CROP Drive In County

Plans are ready for the opening of the drive for grain and cash by the Christian Rural Overseas Program, headed in Richland county by Rev. R. W. McNary, pastor of the Ontario Community church.

The campaign will open officially next Sunday and continue through the following Sunday. It is hoped that a carload of grain will be ready to join other carloads from other Ohio rural areas when the train starts its tour through the state. It will reach Mansfield on Aug. 26. At that time special ceremonies will be held and officials of the state committee of CROP will be here to speak.

All contributions for cash and all pledges of grain are to be sent to the county agent's office in the courthouse, or to Richland Wolford, Mansfield, R. D. 2, treasurer of the committee.

This committee includes, besides Rev. McNary, J. W. MacDonald, Mrs. Max McFarland, A. A. Mellick, Harry Stroup, Gail Hammett, Warren Smith, Oliver Rinehart and Miss Mabel Spray.

Enthusiasm for the campaign is growing, according to Rev. McNary who predicts that Richland county may even exceed the carloadload of grain set as the goal for this vicinity.
